ROBBERS FAIL AT ARENA AND WING COUNTY COMMISSIONERS VOTE $11,000 FOR FAIR

WOULD AID IN MOVEMENT FOR ENTIRE COUNTY

Sentiment Expressed Among Many Leaders in County For Such Institution

ENTERED IN BUDGET

Commissioners Put Amount in Expenses, Resting on Popular Approval

The county commissioners of Burleigh county, in a resolution, have incorporated in their budget, tentatively, $11,000 to aid in the holding of a Burleigh county fair.

The action, subject to approval of the people, probably means the beginning of a real county fair in Bismarck, which may be expanded to a large and permanent institution.

For the past several months business men of Bismarck and other towns in the county and many farmers have discussed the proposition of holding a county fair here.

The success of the corn show inspired many to urge for an early enlargement of the fair. This year, too, fairs in all parts of the state have attracted the largest crowds in their history.

The resolution of the county board, moved by Commissioner Moynier and seconded by Commissioner Bachman, resolved "that the county fair budget be set at $11,000, subject to approval of the public as to the amount they may require and to a final decision of the county commissioners as to the amount they may think is sufficient for such a budget."

It has been proposed in the city that an organization be undertaken, which would include representative farmers, business men of the several towns of the county and officials, to provide Burleigh county with a real fair, which not only would provide entertainment, but would become an agricultural show place for the county, would provide competition to spur on endeavors of citizens of the county and be an important factor in increasing the popularity of Burleigh county as an agricultural center of the state.

Might Include Corn Show
The corn show probably would be included in such a fair, or might be held separately in the fall and winter while the fair probably would be held at the usual time for fairs, so as to be embraced in a large circuit.

The sentiment expressed among people who have urged a fair is that it be started moderately, but on a plan which would call for the development of a big exposition. It is believed a fair could be made a self-sustaining proposition.

Minor reported an attendance of about 70,000 at the fair, Jamestown reported 12,000 people on the Fourth of July, and Pembina reported 8,000 at her county fair one day. Similar reports have come from other cities of the large attendance at county fairs.

NAVAL FLIERS IN FAILURE

Unable to Stay in the Air For 24 Hours

Norfolk, Va., July 12.—Another attempt by naval fliers to remain in the air 24 hours in a new type of long-distance scouting seaplane failed early today when Lieut. George C. McDonald and H. D. Smith were forced down after piloting their craft for approximately 13 hours on a 15-mile triangular course.

The duration of their flight fell about 20 minutes short of the seaplane's record established by naval fliers at Washington last month when the same type of plane stayed in the air 13 hours and 20 minutes in another 24-hour flight attempt.

SHIP CUTS WHALE IN TWO

San Pedro, Cal., July 12.—An enormous sperm whale, part of a large school playing about the ship, was struck by the Panama-Pacific liner Finland and cut in half while the liner was off the Mexican coast Tuesday. It was reported on the arrival of the Finland here.

A large portion of the dead mammal became fast to the bow of the steamer in the collision and remained there two days before it could be removed. Captain Munro said the Finland was delayed several hours by the collision.

Kansas and Nebraska grew more than 2,500,000 of the less than 10,000,000 acres of alfalfa in this country.

BOARD FINDS ADJUSTMENT PERIOD IS ON

Important Phase of Activity Being Carried Ahead in United States

Washington, July 12.—An important readjustment of business conditions characterized by decrease in industrial and trade activity and their prices, was declared by the federal reserve board to be under way throughout the United States.

The board called attention to reduced earnings by industrial workers with a consequent curtailment in their buying power and sharp decreases in production. The lowered prices have carried to every commodity except food which remains almost unchanged.

"The considerable expansion of production during the early months of 1924," the board said, "was followed by important curtailment in certain industries, in response to a lessened volume of current purchases and a hesitancy on the part of manufacturers in placing forward orders. In fact there has been in recent months a larger decrease in production of certain commodities than in their current consumption, and consequently stocks of those commodities have been reduced."

"The recession in business activity has been accompanied since April, by a decreased demand for credit for commercial purposes, and this, together with the continued inflow of gold imports, has brought about an unusual ease in the money market. The decreases in the volume of commercial borrowing, however, has been less than the additional purchases of investments by commercial banks so that the total of member bank credits in use is not only larger than at the beginning of the year, but larger than in any previous period."

In connection with the credit situation the board said that the earning assets of the 12 federal reserve banks was lower at the beginning of this month than at any time for six years.

Practically all important industries showed decreased employment in the last two months as compared with a year ago.

The word "family," as used in the census, means a group of persons, rather related by blood or not, who live together as one household.

PARK HIGHWAY WORK PAYS, IS DECLARATION

A. W. Tracy, General Manager, Says it Means Rich Reward to North Dakotans

INFLUENCE OF TRAVEL

Tourists First Medium For "Telling Truth About North Dakota," He Says

A united effort by counties through which the National Parks Highway passes, from Fargo to Beach, in North Dakota, would reap great benefits by making the trail an improved highway throughout its length, declares A. W. Tracy, general manager of the National Parks Highway, who has his headquarters in this city.

"The people have a fair idea now of what tourist travel by automobile means, in the great number of cars passing over the highway in North Dakota this year, with the tourists leaving much money in the various cities and towns along the way," said Mr. Tracy. "If we get a completely improved road we will have the heaviest travel on any trans-continental trail between Chicago and the Pacific Coast. The people are turning to the northern routes for summer travel to the Pacific Coast."

"Recently there was an organization formed to tell the truth about North Dakota. Every tourist who brings through the state has the opportunity to learn first hand the truth about North Dakota. Each tourist records his impressions to others. The tourist offers the people of North Dakota a great medium to spread information about the state, and it is an important factor in any immigration campaign."

The tourist travel on the National Parks Highway this year is 50 to 75 percent greater than any other year, Mr. Tracy said. When graveling of the highway between Jamestown and Fargo is completed the highway will have a complete improved highway from Chicago to Jamestown, with the exception of about 27 miles, he said.

Mr. Tracy, returning from a trip to the western part of the state and Montana, found much interest in road improvement. There is discussion of a project to place scoria on the entire highway across Billings county, about 25 miles, an improvement which can be made for about $10,000, he said. Scoria, which is obtained in abundance, makes an excellent road, he said.

In Morton county there is a movement under way for improvement of over 25 miles of road with federal aid. Stark county also is improving, and now has a better highway than Morton, he said. It is hoped, he said, that the highway in Burleigh county will be completely graded and gravelled.

WOULD ACCEDE TO CONVENTION

U. S. Informs Powers of Its Attitude

Washington, July 12.—The United States has informed the governments of Great Britain, France and Spain of its willingness to accede, under certain conditions, to the Tangier convention at Paris, December 18, 1923.

The conditions in brief would require a detailed interpretation of certain provisions of the convention, which are seen as affecting American rights in the zone, a more definite declaration of the intention of the new administration there to maintain an open door policy and an acceptance by the joint administration of full responsibility for safeguarding American interests.

10-YEAR-OLD CASE ENDED

St. Louis, July 12.—A decision of the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals, filed here today, apparently ended 10 years of litigation in which the Colorado Coal Company sought vainly to recover damages from the United Mine Workers of America for the alleged destruction of property in the Arkansas fields in 1914. The decision affirms the ruling of District Judge Pollock in favor of the United Mine Workers of America and follows the dictum of the U. S. Supreme Court.

WM. G. M'ADOO WILL SUPPORT DAVIS, BRYAN

Candidate For Nomination Who Was Defeated Pledges Them His Support

SAYS DAVIS IS O. K.

Declares He Is in Sympathy With "Progressivism" of Democratic Platform

New York, July 12. (By the A. P.)—W. G. McAdoo, in a statement issued today, said he would give John W. Davis his cordial support and take part in the campaign.

"I am satisfied that Mr. Davis is in full accord with the progressive program outlined in the Democratic platform," McAdoo said. "I am confident that as president he would faithfully execute the party's mandate."

Referring to criticism from some quarters against Mr. Davis because of his connections with certain interests as a lawyer, Mr. McAdoo said: "Mr. Davis' high character, integrity and services, should satisfy every apprehension of this sort."

"If I did not believe this," Mr. McAdoo continued, "I could not render aid because I have always believed that the interest of the people should never be subordinated to a merely selfish partisanship. The influence and power of these progressive forces must not be dissipated by divisions between various political movements, they must rather be consolidated and used like an irresistible battering ram of that party which offers the best instrumentality for service to the people."

His Statement
"Mr. Davis and I have been friends for the past 12 years and I had the pleasure of discussing the political situation with him. My visit was for the purpose of learning from Mr. Davis his views on the important issues before the country. I am satisfied that he is in accord with the progressive program outlined in the Democratic platform."

"Mr. Davis' professional connections and his association with great banking houses and corporate interests, although considered ethical in every way, have raised doubts in the minds of many of his progressivism and to his complete sympathy with the great reforms the Democratic party must execute if it is to serve the genuine interest of the people."

"These doubts are not justified because a lawyer's view on economic, political and social questions are no more to be judged by his professional association than is a physician to be judged by the character of his patients. Mr. Davis should be judged by his opinion, not those of his clients, and by the impression of sincerity and ability he creates in the public discussion of the issues."

"There is deep-seated determination on the part of the progressive forces within the Democratic party and those outside of it desiring to co-operate to force prompt and decisive action on the part of the next administration for solution of the pressing problems of agriculture, transportation, tariff, taxation and foreign relations which have been so horribly mangled by the Republican administration."

"I shall therefore give the Davis-Bryan ticket my cordial support and shall take part in the campaign on my return in September."

Mr. McAdoo is going to Europe.

SEEK SECOND PLACE MAN

LaFollette Group Is Canvassing Field For Candidate

Washington, July 12.—A preliminary canvass of prospects for a vice-presidential candidate to complete the ticket for the presidential candidacy of Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin was begun today at a meeting here today of the executive committee of the Conference for Progressive Political Action. The meeting was called by William H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists, and temporary chairman of the convention at Cleveland, which endorsed Senator LaFollette as a candidate.

The convention left the selection of a vice-presidential candidate to the committee with instructions to convene formally for that purpose on July 15 after conferring with Senator LaFollette and others interested in his candidacy. The meeting today was in the nature of a preliminary survey of prospects for the second place candidate.

The United States team broke the world's record in the 400 meter race, six trial heats, making the distance in 41.15 seconds, beating the new record of 42 seconds flat made earlier in the afternoon by the British team.

The Americans raced like the wind to clip 4.5 of a second off the mark set by Great Britain in the first heat and equalled in the third heat by Holland. The United States team was composed of Frank Hus-

U. S. FLIERS ON NEW HOP

Leave Constantinople For Bucharest, Roumania

Constantinople, July 12. (By the A. P.)—The United States Army aviators, on a round the world flight, left Constantinople at 10:15 local time, for Bucharest, Roumania.

Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, the commander of the flight, and his five comrades, had an uneventful trip from Aleppo, which they left at 6 o'clock Thursday morning.

Although the engines have been working splendidly they will be replaced with new ones at Brough, on the northern tip of Scotland, where pontoons will be substituted for the wheeled landing gear preparatory to the passage of the Atlantic.

Their routes from this part of the trip lies over the Orkney and Faroe islands, Iceland, Greenland and thence to Labrador.

FORCED BACK

Kasumigaura, Japan, July 12.—A Stuart McLaren, who hopped off with two companions this afternoon for Manila, on a flight around the world, was forced to return here by engine trouble which developed soon after the start.

McLaren hopes to start again tomorrow morning.

CATER FOR ROYALTY

London, July 12. Tradesmen who supply the British royal family with their every-day wants get official recognition in the form of warrants, issued annually. And the lucky tradesmen are not slow to advertise the fact that they sell goods to the first family in the land.

MONTANA FARMER AGAIN TEARS UP TRACKS OF SOO RAILWAY

Plentywood, Montana, July 12.—Elmer Thompson, nicknamed "Montana's John Dietz," is again engaged in an altercation with the Soo railway.

For the second time he has torn up the Soo railway tracks that run across his farm near Whitetail, Montana, with the result that traffic over the line from Crosby, North Dakota, to Whitetail has been disrupted.

Eleven years ago, when the line of railway was built, Thompson refused to sell right-of-way. Confusion followed and the railway was declared to be worth $1,850, eighteen acres being involved.

VISIT 2 TOWNS IN COUNTY BUT SECURE LITTLE

Enter Arena State Bank and Are Frightened Away, Probably by Motorists

BLOW WING POSTOFFICE

Little Is Obtained There Also, Is Report—Sheriff and Deputy There

Robbers blew the postoffice safe in Wing and attempted to rob the Arena State Bank in Arena last night, but failed, according to information received by The Tribune over long-distance telephone today. The same band is suspected of both jobs.

The band entered a Northern Pacific tool house at Arena and stole a pick, chisel and other tools, broke the lock on the front door of the bank at a time estimated by A. C. Isaminger to be between 2:30 and 3:30 a. m., and tried to get into the vault.

The yeggs used the pick in an endeavor to get through the outer vault, and knocked down a partition. They tried to chisel through the vault door. They failed in both attempts, and then made ready to dynamite the vault.

The "soup" or nitroglycerine, was all prepared for the blast, when the robbers evidently became frightened. Mr. Isaminger believes that the fact that many people were passing through town in automobiles, on their way home from a dance in Arena grove, frightened the robbers and they decided to leave without dynamiting the vault.

The only thing of value missed by Mr. Isaminger was a revolver kept in a drawer of the bank.

There was no clue to the robbers reported early today. Sheriff Hedstrom and Deputy Phelps are at Arena investigating.

Wing Safe Blown

Mr. Isaminger also reported that robbers, probably the same band, blew the safe in the postoffice at Wing, west of there. Much damage was done to the safe. However, the robbers at Wing got but little of value, according to information to Mr. Isaminger.

There recently have been several bank robberies in this section of the state, but in most instances little of value has been secured. Either the robbers have been unable to penetrate the vaults or they have been frightened away. The banks all carry insurance. Recently attempts were made to rob banks in Halliday and Coleharbor, and a few nights ago a safe was blown in Still, Burleigh county. The clumsy manner in which some of the yeggs have gone about their business has given rise to the belief that some bands, at least, are not experts in their profession.

BUILDING IN JUNE IS NEAR PREVIOUS YEAR

Total Reported in Northwest. However, Indicates Slackening in Year

June building contracts in Minnesota, the Dakotas, and Northern Michigan, amounted to $11,048,700, says the monthly review of F. W. Dodge and Company. This was a 5 per cent drop from May and a 33 per cent drop from June of last year. The following were the more important items in the June record: $491,000, or 45 per cent, for residential building; $2,559,700, or 23 per cent, for public works and utilities; $1,140,500, or 10 per cent, for educational buildings; and $820,500, or 7 per cent, for industrial buildings.

Construction started in this district during the first half of 1924 has amounted to $19,814,200, a decrease of 35 per cent from the corresponding period of last year.

Contemplated new work reported in June amounted to $102,110, less than the same period of last year.

The small volume of contemplated new work reported since the first of the year indicates a very small volume of construction in abeyance.

BOARD FINDS ADJUSTMENT PERIOD IS ON

Important Phase of Activity Being Carried Ahead in United States

Washington, July 12.—An important readjustment of business conditions characterized by decreases in industrial and trade activity and their prices, was declared by the federal reserve board to be under way throughout the United States.

The board called attention to reduced earnings by industrial workers with a consequent curtailment in their buying power and sharp decreases in production. The lowered prices have carried to every commodity except food which remains almost unchanged.

In connection with the credit situation the board said that the earning assets of the 12 federal reserve banks was lower at the beginning of this month than at any time for six years.

Practically all important industries showed decreased employment in the last two months as compared with a year ago.

NEW HEARING IN GRAIN CASE BEING SOUGHT

The North Dakota Board of Railroad Commissioners probably will be represented by Frank Millhollan, its chairman, in a conference in Kansas City on July 18, when representatives of state commissions of western states will consider a reply to the petition of railroads to reopen the western grain rate case. This case, in which a general reduction of rates was asked in the western territory on grain and grain products, was heard by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which took evidence in Kansas City, St. Paul and Chicago. It has not been decided. The railroads have requested the commission to hear further evidence in the case before a decision is rendered.

WILL APPEAL TAX CASES

A transcript has been ordered by F. O. The cases will be appealed to the supreme court, from Judge Coffey's decision. Mr. Hellstrom said today. Judge Coffey has not yet rendered a decision on the demurrer interposed in behalf of numerous banks in Burleigh county, against whom suit was brought for taxes alleged due.

SEEK SECOND PLACE MAN

LaFollette Group Is Canvassing Field For Candidate

Washington, July 12.—A preliminary canvass of prospects for a vice-presidential candidate to complete the ticket for the presidential candidacy of Wisconsin was begun at a meeting here today of the executive committee of the Conference for Progressive Political Action.

The meeting was called by William H. Johnson, president of the International Association of Machinists, and temporary chairman of the convention at Cleveland, which endorsed Senator LaFollette's candidacy.

The convention left the selection of a vice-presidential candidate to the committee with instructions to convene formally for that purpose on July 15 after conferring with Senator LaFollette and others interested in his candidacy. The meeting today was in the nature of a preliminary survey of prospects for the second place candidate.

FINLAND INCREASES POINTS IN OLYMPIC GAMES BY GREAT WORK

Paavo Nurmi, Great Finnish Runner, Scores Another Victory in the Olympic Games, Winning Over Yankee Runners

U. S. STILL LEADS

Olympic Stadium, Colombes, France, July 12.—With the next to the last day of the Olympic track and field games completed, the standing of the nations on points was United States 194; Finland 135; Great Britain 61; Sweden 26; France 19; Switzerland 11; Australia 10; Hungary 7; Argentina 5; South Africa 5; Canada 5; Norway 4; New Zealand 4; Denmark 3; Japan 1.

Paavo Nurmi, the marvelous Finnish runner, scored his third Olympic triumph today when he won the 10,000 meter cross country race by more than 500 meters from his countryman, Willie Ritola, with Earl Johnson, the American negro running star, surprising the field with a great race which gave him third place.

The United States team broke the world's record in the 400 meter race, six trial heats, making the distance in 1:15 seconds, beating the new record of 42 seconds that made earlier in the afternoon by the British team.

The Americans raced like the wind to clip 4-5 of a second off the mark set by Great Britain in the first heat and equalled in the third heat by Holland. The United States team was composed of Frank Hussey, Stuyvesant High of New York, the interscholastic sprint champion, Louis Clark of John Hopkins, Lorn Murchison, Newark A. C. and Alfred Leconch of Meadow Brook Club. They ran in the order named.

Finland won the 10,000 meter cross-country event as a nation, with 11 points. The United States was second with 14 points, France third with 20 points. This result gave Finland 25 Olympic points and the United States ten.

After the finals of the 10,000 meter individual and team race events, the total of points for the two leaders was United States 193 1/2; Finland 128.

The cross-country run proved to be the most gruelling event on the Olympic program, only 14 of the 39 starters finishing, 24 falling exhausted by the wayside outside of the stadium. Bergstrom of Sweden was found to be in so weak a condition after his collapse that he was taken to the hospital to join his team-mate, Wyde, who had suffered a sunstroke. Five other competitors had to be attended at the Red Cross station under the stadium.

Three of the men who reached the last lap collapsed inside the stadium. Dolques of France collapsed 50 yards from the finish, picked himself up pluckily like a boxer on the verge of a knockout, until he took the final count with the finish line but a few yards in front of him.

LAFOLLETTE OFFICES OPEN

The entire hall of the Loyal Order of Moose will be occupied for clerical use and five rooms will be used as executive offices.

NEW CAMPAIGN FOR FARM BILL IS PROPOSED

Conference in St. Paul Urges Creation of Export Marketing Agency

St. Paul, July 12.—Organization of a national council for promotion of the interest of agriculture is urged in the resolutions committee report presented to the national conference of farm organizations here this afternoon.

St. Paul, July 12. (By the A. P.)—A definite policy for farm relief legislation was expected to be adopted here today at the concluding session of the national conference of farm organizations.

A plan favored by the resolutions committee of the conference would provide for a centralized farm organization to work for the interest of agriculture, and it was indicated some such body would be formed here.

It was proposed before the resolutions committee yesterday that a federal committee composed of delegates from every state and representing all farm organizations should be named to formulate any legislative action to be taken. One suggestion was that the central committee should be chosen from leaders of farm organizations now existing.

One of the purposes of the conference is to obtain passage in the next Congress of the McNary-Haugen export corporation farm relief bill, which was defeated at the last session, or a measure drawn up along the same lines.

U.S. FLIERS ON NEW HOP

Leave Constantinople For Bucharest, Roumania

Constantinople, July 12. (By the A. P.)—The United States Army aviators, on a round the world flight, left Constantinople at 10:16 o'clock this morning. Greenwood time, Bucharest, Roumania.

Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, the commander of the flight, and his five comrades, had an eventful trip from Aleppo, which they left at 6 o'clock Thursday morning.

Although the engines have been working splendidly they will be replaced with new ones at Brough, on the northern tip of Scotland, where pontoons will be substituted for the wheeled landing gear preparatory to the passage of the Atlantic.

Their routes from this part of the trip lies over the Orkney and Faroe islands, Iceland, Greenland and thence to Labrador.

FORCED BACK

Kasumigaura, Japan, July 12.—A Stuart McLaren, who hopped off with two companions this afternoon for Manato, on a flight around the world, was forced to return here by engine trouble which developed shortly after the start of the trip. McLaren hopes to start again tomorrow morning.

NAMED ON CLAIMS BODY

Washington, July 12.—Henry W. Anderson of Richmond, Virginia, was named by President Coolidge today to be the American agent on general claims commission between Mexico and the United States. Mr. Anderson, who has been acting as a special assistant to the attorney-general, will act.

MONTANA FARMER AGAIN TEARS UP TRACKS OF SOO RAILWAY

Plentywood, Montana, July 12.—Elmer Thompson, nicknamed "Montana's John Dietz," is again engaged in an altercation with the Soo railway.

For the second time he has torn up the Soo railway tracks that run across his farm near Whitetail, Montana, with the result that traffic on the line from Crosby, North Dakota, to Whitetail has been disrupted.

Eleven years ago, when the line of railway was built, Thompson refused to sell right-of-way. Contention proceedings followed and the land required by the railroad was declared to be worth $1,800, eighteen acres being involved.

The railway company deposited the money to Thompson's credit in a local bank where it still remains. A year ago Thompson tore up the track and built a shack on the right-of-way.

Several days ago he again tore up the track, posted "no trespassing" signs at either side of his farm where it was entered by the railroad and strung up barbed wire fences. On the occasion of his first action a year ago Thompson was arrested and pleaded guilty in federal court to impeding the delivery of mails. No action has been taken yet in connection with the new disruption of railway service over the line.

VISIT 2 TOWNS IN COUNTY BUT SECURE LITTLE

Enter Arena State Bank and Are Frightened Away, Probably by Motorists

BLOW WING POSTOFFICE

Little Is Obtained There Also, Is Report—Sheriff and Deputy There

Robbers blew the postoffice safe in Wing and attempted to rob the Arena State Bank in Arena last night, but failed, according to information received by The Tribune over long-distance telephone today. The same band is suspected of both jobs.

The band entered a Northern Pacific tool house at Arena and stole a pick, chisel and other tools, broke the lock on the front door of the bank at a time estimated by A. C. Isaminger to be between 2:30 and 3:00 a. m., and tried to get into the vault.

The yeegs used the pick in an endeavor to get through the outer vault, and knocked down a partition. They tried to chisel through the vault door. They failed in both attempts, and then made ready to dynamite the vault.

The "soup" or nitroglycerine, was all prepared for the blast, when the robbers evidently became frightened. Mr. Isaminger believes that the fact that many people were passing through town in automobiles, on their way home from a dance in Arena grove, frightened the robbers and they decided to leave without dynamiting the safe.

The only thing of value missed by Mr. Isaminger was a revolver kept in a drawer of the bank.

There was no clue to the robbers reported early today. Sheriff Hedstrom and Deputy Phelps are at Arena investigating.

Wing Safe Blown

Mr. Isaminger also reported that robbers, probably the same band, blew the safe in the postoffice at Wing, west of Arena. Much damage was done to the safe. However, the robbers at Wing got but little of value, according to information to Mr. Isaminger.

There recently have been several bank robberies in this section of the state, but in most instances little or no value has been secured. Either the robbers have been unable to penetrate the vaults or they have been frightened away. The banks all carry insurance. Recently attempts were made to rob banks in Halliday and Coleharbor, and a few nights ago a safe was blown in Still, Burleigh county. The clumsy manner in which some of the yeegs have gone about their business has given rise to the belief that some bands, at least, are not experts in their profession.

BUILDING IN JUNE IS NEAR PREVIOUS YEAR

Total Reported in Northwest, However, Indicates Slackening in Year

June building contracts in Minnesota, the Dakotas, and Northern Michigan, amounted to $11,048,700, says the monthly review of F. W. Dodge & Co. This was a 5 per cent drop from May and a 33 per cent drop from June of last year. The following were the more important items in the June record: $4,918,300, or 45 per cent, for residential buildings; $2,559,700, or 23 per cent, for public works, such as utilities; $1,140,500, or 10 per cent, for educational buildings; and $280,500, or 7 per cent, for industrial buildings.

Construction started in this district during the first half of 1924 has amounted to $49,814,200, a decrease of 35 per cent from the corresponding period of last year.

Completed new work reported in June amounted to $10,247,100, less than the amount of work started. The small volume of contemplated new work reported since the first of the year indicates a very small volume of construction in abeyance.

12 High Schools Are Classified By Department

Eleven public high schools and one private school have been graded as classified high schools, by a committee of the state superintendent's office, C. E. Pickles, high school inspector, said today. They are Alexander, Garfield, Haynes, Munich, Monango, Taylor, Plaza, Tioga, York, Wild Rose, Sherwood and St. John's Academy, Jamestown the latter a private school. Berthold and Wymore high schools were raised to first-class and Forman and Napoleon were raised to second class. Other schools may be classified soon, Mr. Pickles said.

JUVENILE BAND CONCERTS ARE TO BE GIVEN

First One May Be Given in Courthouse Square on Saturday Night

The Bismarck Juvenile Concert band will probably appear in an open air concert tomorrow night at 7:30, in the Court House square, according to Director L. C. Sorlien. A definite announcement will be made tomorrow. It is planned to have the concert a regular event about every two weeks during the summer.

The progress of the three juvenile bands has been very rapid, according to Mr. Sorlien, director. On Monday six of the more promising pupils in the "beginners band" will be transferred to the "second band." The "beginners band" includes about thirty children, averaging about 12 years of age. Fifteen of the thirty are playing the clarinet, of which there is a shortage in the concert band.

From June 7 until last Monday, the members of the bands were instructed individually, but they will now meet as a class, although Mr. Sorlien will continue to have special classes throughout the summer. Some inconvenience is being experienced in carrying out the full program of the concert band, because so many of the members have left the city for the entire summer, or for a large part of it. Out of the group of 38 which comprises the concert band when all members are present, there are now only a little over 220 here.

The revised practice schedules for the three bands are as follows, and the members are requested to attend as regularly as possible:

Beginners' band, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at 9:30; on Saturday at 11. Second band, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 9:30. Concert band, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at 7:15 p. m.

In the fall as soon as the school opens, Mr. Sorlien will organize a high school pep band, consisting of the best 25 players in the United States army. Ketchikan will be one of the largest cable stations in the world, according to officials handling the laying of the line.

The first section of the new cable which links Seattle and Ketchikan was finished May 31 by the cable ship Delwood. The Delwood then went to London to load cable for a second section which will connect Ketchikan and Seward. Another new line is to link Juneau, Wrangell, and Petersburg with this city. Ketchikan will then be a relay office for four lines, two going in to southeastern Alaska, one to Seward and one to Seattle. All these cables will be used commercially.

The new cable will be equipped for duplex operation, enabling six times as much traffic to be handled as on the old line from Seattle to Sitka.

In New York

New York, July 11.—Hell's Kitchen, one of the most notorious gang-breeding spots in all New York, is serene.

The boom of pocket cannons and the clang of patrol wagons is replaced with the tinkle of ukulele strings and the harmony of ball-room quartets.

The noisier note in the kitchen now is the clash of elbows of hoodlums and plasterers, daughters trekking out to a Saturday night juk.

Where once predominated slinking figures in misfit clothes, with caps pulled far down over nervous eyes, the cake-eater type, dolled to the height of fashion, now holds sway. Hell's Kitchen's new generation mimics the dress and manners of society.

In the old days, a murder in the Kitchen was only cause for passing comment. Now it creates as much of a furor as it would in any small town.

Hell's Kitchen earned its name many years ago and was applied to the territory between Tenth and Eleventh avenues north of 34th street. Hell's Kitchen, itself, was a ramshackle frame house in the middle of the block, where the gangsters met and hatched their plots. It has since been torn down.

The "Tub of Blood" was the name of one of the picturesque saloons in the days when crime flourished in the Kitchen and a life was worth no more than a word of contradiction. Only one old-fashioned custom holds in the Kitchen. It is the typical Irish wake, the "sitting up" ceremonial with the dead.

24-Hour Clock System Urged For German Railways

Munich, Germany, July 11.—Considerable pressure is being brought to bear upon the German railway administration to adopt the system of time by the hours of 1-24 instead of 1-12 a. m. and 1-12 p. m. Travelers returning from Switzerland, Italy and Austria point out how much easier the system in vogue in these countries is, where everybody knows that 17 o'clock is 5 p. m.

Several years ago an international congress for standardizing the railway time tables of continental Europe was held at Basle, in Switzerland. At this congress it was unanimously decided to introduce the 24-hour system as soon as possible. The German railway administration holds that the expense of installing the new system is too great for the German state.

Motors Breed Class Jealousy

London, July 11.—In the opinion of Lord Sumner the safety razor and artificial silk are two of the most striking inventions of the present day. Speaking at a recent Science Guild dinner, Lord Sumner said:

"The safety razor has exposed the face of man and artificial silk has revealed the face of woman. Of the motorcar, I doubt if any invention has done more to sow, to water, and to ripen a feeling of jealousy between classes."

Great Britain has three classes of receiving licenses: broadcasting, construction and experiment.

RAIN, HAIL IS RECORDED IN STATE TODAY

Grand Forks County Is Visited By Heavy Storm; Hail Report From Minot

Grand Forks, July 11.—Rain and hail fell in this territory this morning, the hail being confined to a small area without doing damage to crops. Telephone wires south of here were out of order for a while and a storm was reported near Reynolds, but an investigation when the wires were again in operation disclosed the fact that lightning had struck the wires and had blown out fuses at that place.

SEVERE HAIL STORM
Minot, North Dakota, July 11.—One hundred thousand acres of farm crops in the vicinity west of Coulees, in the northern part of Ward county, were struck by a terrific hail storm about midnight last night, causing total loss to about half of the area and a loss of 50 per cent to the remainder. According to a message received here today from E. B. McCutcheon, who is engaged in the banking business at Coulees, the hail stones, while not large, fell with much force, being accompanied by a high wind and followed by a heavy rain. Mr. McCutcheon stated:

KILLED BY LIGHTNING
Grand Forks, July 11.—John E. Love, 29, a farmer living 14 miles east of here in Minnesota, was killed by lightning this morning. Love was driving his team in from the field, when the bolt struck, killing him instantly and killing both of his horses. His clothes were torn from his body, which caught fire. His brother, who was some 50 yards behind him, extinguished the flames. Love was unmarried.

TALES OF OLD DAYS IN STATE TOLD IN BOOK

Historical Society Volume Contains Much Material That Is Interesting

The fifth volume of the Collections of the State Historical Society of North Dakota, edited by Dr. O. G. Libby of the University of North Dakota, has just come from the press and contains much of interest to pioneers of the state, and to those interested in the beginnings of North Dakota's history.

The biography by Grace Greenwood of D. M. Holmes, prominent in Masonry and civic enterprises, gives a vivid picture of the growth of the eastern part of the state, particularly Grand Forks, where Holmes made his home after coming to North Dakota, outside of a short period spent in Pennsylvania. The biography is a pioneer life story, strikingly depicted in Holmes' career, for he was at one time or another following his arrival in this state a surveyor, a lumberman, a telegraph operator, a druggist and a lawyer besides holding several county offices.

In 1876 Holmes with a number of other men, left Grand Forks for an expedition into the Black Hills, where it was rumored there were rich gold deposits. In the diary which Holmes kept very complete during the whole adventure, is found an interesting commentary on the trip across the state, and into South Dakota. At Bismarck Holmes records that he attended two dances, and the party had a gun stolen the first night; then a storm arose, which prevented the arrival of trains, and held up the expedition for two weeks. The diary is replete with colorful incidents, and faithful description of the country passed over.

Burleigh county suffered at least five changes in boundary line, before it acquired its present dimensions, according to the account given by Luella J. Hall of the formation of the counties of North Dakota. The article is profusely illustrated by maps which indicate clearly each important change in the county lines.

A picturesque story is that of the W-Bar ranch on the Missouri slope, by Bertha M. Kuhn, relating the history of Pierre Wibaux, energetic Frenchman, who founded his ranch about the same time as the Marquis de Mores began his original "Get Rich Quick" schemes, and Theodore Roosevelt became a cowboy near Medora. The story of Wibaux's rise to the title of "Cat King" of his "White House," and of the obstacles he overcame in his little kingdom is good reading.

To lovers of Indian history, the history of Turtle Mountain Chippewa, by John Hesketh, and the sketch of the Minnesota massacre by Victor Renville will be an attraction. Both accounts show infinite care in the matter of detailed information, clearly written, and contain some striking descriptive passages.

The book clearly indicates its experienced editing, and will be interesting, not only to students, but to anyone who likes a well written narrative of the truth that is so often stranger than fiction.

Slope County Bank Case Is Up On Appeal

Appeal has been taken to the supreme court in the case in which the State Bonding Fund seeks to have itself declared a preferred creditor in the defunct First State and Slope County Banks of Amidon, to recover $50,000. The amount recovered from the bonding fund by Slope county because of public deposits lost in the bank failures. The case, which is against L. R. Baird, receiver, and J. S. Douglas, county treasurer, at the time the money was deposited and lost, is brought by S. A. Olness, as Commissioner of Insurance. He asks that the money which had been deposited be declared a trust fund, that the assets of the bank be impressed with trust for the amount, and that the bonding fund have preference in its claim upon all of the assets of the banks, and be paid before the claims of the creditors of the banks are allowed.

Foster And Gitlow Indorsed

Chicago, July 12.—The candidacy of William Z. Foster and Benjamin Gitlow of New York, nominated respectively for president and vice-president by the Workers Party of America has been indorsed by the Farmer-Labor party, which will not support Senator Robert M. La Follette, indorsed for president last week at the conference for progressive political action.

Announcement of the party's action was made by the executive committee, which consented to the withdrawal of Duncan McDonald of Illinois, and William Bouek, Washington, recently named at the Farmer-Labor convention at St. Paul. Indorsement of La Follette by the Cleveland conference, "betrayed the Farmer-Labor masses into the hands of merchants, manufacturers, bankers and rich farmers, and thus destroyed the only chance for a united front campaign in the coming presidential election," the national executive committee of the Farmer-Labor party said in a statement.

NEW LEASE ON LIFE!

Eight-Hour Day Makes Steel Workers Happy and Contented

BY GEORGE BRITT
NEA Service Writer

Gary, Ind., July 12.—These thousands of blackened, overworked men, swinging dinner buckets, who troop up Broadway from the "works" every day are a changed crowd.

The 12-hour day, Old Man of the Sea upon the back of the steel industry, has been eliminated with the apparent result of better workers, a better town and better business.

There's snap in their step, animation in their talk, and smiles on their faces as they come from work. Those who ride the street cars, according to the conductors, are more trouble than they used to be—more boisterous, more argumentative, not such limp automatons.

They are better men to have about the house, say their wives and mothers. They pay more attention to the children and have reduced the truancy rate at school.

Bank Clearings Gain

They are buying better merchandise, say the merchants. Working 12 hours a day, they would send their wives to the stores, even for their own shirts and suits. Now they go shopping even for their own shirts and suits. Now they go shopping with their wives and demand better goods.

Gary bank clearings for the first four months this year were $67,949,000. They were only $55,411,000 for the same period last year when the longer hours were in effect at the mills.

The steel mills basketball league had 25 teams this past winter as compared with 10 the year before, when hours were longer. The public schools' vocational classes were crowded this winter with voluntary applicants, without any effort to get pupils.

With the sudden acquisition of hours of free time, the men remained sober and orderly. Arrests show no average, says Chief of Police W. A. Forbis.

Corporation Profits, Too

This increase in happiness and human wellbeing, forced on the industry by American public opinion, is costing 10 per cent in steel production, according to Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation. Yet the corporation would appear to be bearing up under it.

The directors voted an extra 50 cents per share to the quarterly dividends on common stock in January and April.

Judge Gary said, virtually "a 7 per cent stock." Net earnings for the first quarter of 1924 for the entire steel corporation, were reported as $50,075,445.

That is the largest in the history of the corporation except during the war, and more than $15,000,000 greater than during the first quarter of last year.

Twice since the 12-hour day was eliminated, in October and March, the Gary works have set world's production records for volume of pig iron production.

Some workers bitterly dislike the shorter work day of eight or ten hours. They are mostly husky young foreigners who can stand the heat, who prefer to toil longer hours, draw more money, and get paid sooner to affluent peasant-hood overseas. Sometimes now they work two shifts in succession.

Low wages is the chief complaint. The scale went up some as the working day was shortened. Common labor, the majority classification, gets 50 cents an hour instead of 40 cents. That means $4 for an 8-hour day instead of $4.80 for a 12-hour day.

GLOVES LARGER

It is now the fashion to wear gloves that are a bit too large and may be wrinkled very casually over the hand, particularly in suede.

Surprise Visit to Portia

By KATE MUNROE

As the lights went down a hush of expectation settled over the audience at the theater. Most of the faces were alight with anticipation, but the old man and woman in the back seats of the first balcony looked very grave. They were country people, and they had never been to a theater before.

"Please God, it isn't true, Mary!" said the old man.

His wife pressed his hand gently. She knew how deeply he felt upon the subject.

It was, for those simple minds, a tragic situation. Their daughter, Lucy, had left the farm three years before. And some meddlesome busybody had told the old people that she was actually an actress!

To their simple minds there could have been nothing more degrading. The stage was the acme of all that was vile in the world. They had come up to town, without announcing their intentions, and were now swatting the rising of the curtain upon the first act of "The Merchant of Venice."

Portia does not appear at the beginning of this play. And before she had come on the stage the old people were staring in wonder at the magnificence of the setting. More than that, in place of the immorality which they had expected to find inculcated, they found a story, so gripping, so pathetic that they were spellbound.

But when Portia appeared they leaned forward with a revival of their old terror. Portia was Lucy!—Miss Margaret Lake, as she was billed. It was true, then!

There was almost an expression of pride, but there was also bewilderment. His Lucy! Their little girl! How could this be she!

So the play went on toward its dramatic climax. And now William Mullins and his wife were following the developments with bated breath. And the life-long horror of the stage was forgotten. And when the great trial scene came on, and Shylock sharpened his knife, and things looked bad for his enemy, tears came into their eyes.

"He'll get him, Mary!" whispered her husband.

"Sh-sh!" rang out the angry whispers; and he subsided into his seat in dismay at the storm he had raised.

But when Portia came in, attired as the doctor of laws, William Mullins knew her immediately.

"That's Lucy!" he whispered. "Mother! That's our girl! Look at her!"

He sat now like a man entranced, staring at her. And when she confounded Shylock with her learning, when, after appealing to his humanity in vain, she ruthlessly unmasked the laws and drove him, suppliant, before the judge's seat, the father could restrain himself no longer.

He stood up in his seat and "waved his hand."

"By Crick, Lucy, you've got him!" he yelled. "Good girl! That's the way! Teach the rogue a lesson! Tell his honor not to let him get away with his life! No mercy!"

There were no longer whispers of remonstrance. Instead, there was an uproarious outburst of laughter, with a salvo of hearty handclapping to follow. And the old parents, shrinking back into their seats, the observed of every eye, saw that Lucy had seen them.

They sat still in their seats, bewildered and dazed, long after the curtain had fallen, and the theater had begun to empty. An usher came toward them.

"Mr. and Mrs. Mullins?" he inquired blandly, casting curious glances at the old couple. "Miss Margaret Lake would like to see you in her dressing room. Will you stop this way, please?"

Their daughter was waiting. She was attired in her street gown, and she had carefully washed every trace of paint from her face.

As the old couple halted, rather sheepishly, at the door, Lucy ran toward them, and was clasped in their arms.

"Father!" she cried. "So you have found me out! And mother, too! Why didn't you let me know, and I would have had a box for you!"

"By gum, Lucy, what would we do with a box?" ejaculated her father. "Why, Lucy, we wanted to be somewhere where we could see you. We couldn't have seen you in a box, Lucy. The way you did up that Drylocks fellow was scrumptious. Some damned old sassy told us you were on the stage, and we come down here to save you from ruin—but I guess we don't mind now as much as we did—do we, mother?"

And then Lucy insisted on introducing them to her friends—to Mr. Grosvenor, the "star," and to various subordinate members of the company. Altogether it was a night of surprises for the old people.

But as they went out together, Lucy made an excuse to run back for something, and she caught Mr. Grosvenor by the arm.

"I wish we had told them everything!" she whispered. "Shall I, Philip?"

"Did you ever stop to think, my dear, it's just old people like these—our fathers and mothers in far-away villages—that make the stage as good as it is today, and keep so many of us better than we would be, perhaps?"

Child Lepers Are Many in India

London, July 12.—The British Empire Leprosy Relief Association has embarked upon a campaign to save the child lepers of India, according to Frank Oldreive, the secretary of the association.

"India has thousands of these blighted children," Mr. Oldreive said recently. "In the asylums of the Mission to Lepers alone are between 400 and 500 of them, and they may be seen by the score wherever lepers congregate."

Race Going Is Costly in Ireland

Dublin, July 12. (A. P.)—Irish racing is experiencing a slump, and a conference is to be held in Dublin to examine into the causes and find a remedy.

The officials of the Irish National Hunt Club and of the Turf Club have been invited to attend. The three chief causes of the slump are described as too many officials, the increase in the number of weight-for-age races, and the heavy expenses of race-goers.

Falkland Fisheries
To Supply British
London, July 12. (A. P.)—Fisheries experts recently have noted with anxiety that the great fishing grounds of the North Sea, which supply most of the sea food used on English tables, are becoming rapidly depleted through the energy of travel fishermen who, since the end of the world war, have greatly increased in number.

The same condition, it is pointed out, existed in 1914, but the world war made fishing on a large scale virtually impossible, and as a consequence...

sequence of the four closed years the runs increased greatly. In the last year or so fishermen have been forced to go further and further afield, and it is even suggested that the opening of the great fishing grounds off the Falkland Islands might be advisable. This would mean establishment of a special service of refrigerating steamers to bring the catch to British ports.

Free battery water and inspection at the curb.
Free service batteries when your battery needs charging or repairs.
Free delivery of service batteries in exchange for your battery to be charged or repaired.
Think of the saving—with no rent to pay while your battery is being taken care of—this is especially appreciated when you own a Radio.
No doubt it never occurred to you that it is cheaper to rent a battery than own one, because it was never possible under the old rental conditions. But under our plan it is cheaper—with no worries as to the length of a battery guarantee—no need of repairs—no expense for winter storage, which generally amounts to five or six dollars.

MARKET NEWS
HOG PRICES ON
UPWARD TREND
DURING WEEK

Closing at South St. Paul at
40 to 50 Cents Over One
Week Ago, Says Report

CATTLE HOLDS WELL

So. St. Paul, July 12.—Bullish influences in form of improvement in dressed trade and a broadening demand at all markets this week boosted the local average of hog prices from 40 to 50 cents over those of a week ago, says the weekly livestock review of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Current hog prices are at their high time since the last week in May and should there be any sizeable decrease in receipts during the ensuing six weeks or more, as is usually the case at this season of the year, many members of the trade predict still higher prices. Top butcher hogs closed at 7.20, bulk better grades mixed offerings selling between this price and 7.10. Less desirable kind down to 7.00. Packing hogs closed 6.25 to 6.50, pigs mostly 5.50 to 5.75.

Cattle values in most cases held up well under increased receipts, fed steers and stockers and feeders, offerings being the lower classes to sustain a 25 cents lower deal. Top steers earned 9.50 in several instances and this price down to 8.50 took most load lot offerings. Under this spread either quality of finish was lacking and at the 7.00 line material was decidedly common. Fat stock cleared at 6.00 to 8.50 for dry fed material, the latter price taking yearling beef heifers. From 3.50 to 6.25 represented much of the grassy stock while canners and cutters were listed at 2.25 to 3.00.

Bologna bulls closed at the top end of a 50 to 75 cent advance, bulk 4.00 to 4.75. Veal calves also developed a sharp spurt, averaging $1.00 or more higher for the week with $9.00 to $9.25 top sort packers. Stockers and feeders eased off slightly under a poor country demand closing prices weak to 25 cents lower, bulk offerings 4.00 to 6.00.

DISPUTE CANNOT
INVOLVE TREATY

Dublin, July 12.—Appointment of the judicial committee of the British Privy Council to examine the legal aspects of the naming of the Irish Boundary Commission, has brought forth the statement from the former Free State attorney general, Hugh Kennedy, now a member of the Supreme Court, that "no question of interpretation of the treaty has been or can be referred to the judicial committee so far as the government of the Free State is concerned."

The work of the commission, it is pointed out, will in reality be an attempt on the part of the British government to anticipate any difficulties which might arise after the award, which will have the force of law and will probably automatically transfer various populations from one jurisdiction to another. Through investigation by the committee is expected to obviate any claim that the commission was not legally constituted, with a consequent demand for nullification of its award.

Numerous legal questions are involved. As Ulster refused to appoint a member of the commission to the committee, which will represent the highest court of appeal in the empire, will be called upon to decide in advance whether the British government may nominate an Ulster representative, either directly or indirectly, and what legislation is necessary to thoroughly legalize the proceedings.

What's Right Kind
Of Loud Speaker?

Solenoid Type With Wood Horn Considered Most Efficient

There are three kinds of loud speakers.
1. Those by which a simple head-phone is attached to a horn by means of clamps.
2. Those that have a telephone receiver at the base of the horn, or attached more closely than the first class.
3. Those built on the solenoid principle in which the currents act on a coil placed in the field of a strongly energized magnet.
The last is most proficient, although the other two are effective sound producers. The difficulty with them is that strong signals cause the diaphragm to strike the magnet and produce rattles. Also, when the plate voltage is high a direct current flowing through the magnet exerts a strong pull on the diaphragm and causes distortion.
In the solenoid type the gap between coil and diaphragm is constant and fluctuations of current do not change the impedance of the circuit. Thus no matter how weak or how strong the signals, the sounds are not distorted.
The shape of the horn, it has been found by experiment, should be straight, rather than curved and the opening has to be regulated in size in proportion to the length.
Wood is the best material. Paper mache also is good. A metal horn gives a brassy overtone and produces vibrations in itself.

WOULD SPEND
BILLION HERE
ON HIGHWAYS

Amount of Money Which
Should be Spent Based on R.
R. Experience, Black Says

"One billion dollars would be a very low estimate of the amount of money which should be expended on North Dakota roads if railroad experience in this country was to be followed in highway construction," says W. G. Black, Chief Engineer of the State Highway Commission. "Roads have less than 16 per cent of each dollar invested in trains and other rolling stock, and the big share of the remaining capital is in right-of-way, road bed, bridges and so forth."

"If North Dakota owners of some $100,000,000 worth of automobiles and trucks were to follow out this experience of the railroads there would be over $1,000,000,000 to be annually used in highway construction," said Mr. Black.

"Instead of this we find that North Dakota car owners are putting, annually, about $1,000,000 or less than 1 cent for each dollar invested in 'rolling stock' into roads on which to use the machines," he continued. More than to even suggest the economy of putting a mere hundredth of the warranted sum into better roads, Mr. Black explained, the figures were given to stress the importance of putting a fairer portion, as based on the experiences of railroads, into roads as compared to the outlay for "rolling stock."

The new Chrysler Six is now on display in our showrooms, as we have been granted the franchise for the sale and distribution of this truly remarkable car in this immediate territory. This announcement, we believe, is vastly important news to you—more important, in fact, than any similar announcement made since the arrival of the first automobile in this city. We make this statement fully conscious of the fact that it is sensationally strong. We phrase it so deliberately, because we know the car. Here are some of the things that have made us marvel as they will you.

over 70 miles an hour, gasoline economy safely 20 miles per gallon, lugging power on high that pulls you through the deepest sand or takes you up any hill a car can cling to, a flashing pick-up that is electrifying, a motor operation always vibrationless. Only proven principles of engineering were used in designing and building the Chrysler Six. Yet every phase of its performance proves that a distinctly new kind of motor car has been created. These truly remarkable results were made possible by intensive research and development over a period of years. You could not buy a car that is better engineered and built than the Chrysler Six if you paid twice the price.

MARKET NEWS

HOG PRICES ON
UPWARD TREND
DURING WEEK

Closing at South St. Paul at
40 to 50 Cents Over One
Week Ago, Says Report

CATTLE HOLDS WELL

So. St. Paul, July 12.—Bullish influences in form of improvement in dressed trade and a broadening demand at all markets this week boosted the local average of hog prices from 40 to 50 cents over those of a week ago, says the weekly livestock review of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Current hog prices are at their highest since the last week in May and should there be any sizeable decrease in receipts during the ensuing six weeks or more, as is usually the case at this season of the year, many members of the trade predict still higher prices. Top butchers hogs closed at 7.20, bulk better grades mixed offerings selling between this price and 7.10. Less desirable kind down to 7.00. Packing hogs closed 6.25 to 6.50, pigs mostly 5.50 to 5.75.

Cattle values in most cases held up well under increased receipts, fed steers and stockers and feeder offerings being the only classes to sustain any losses, these closing on a week to 25 cents lower deal. Top steers earned 9.50 in several instances and this price down to 8.50 took most load lot offerings. Under this spread either quality of finish was lacking and at the 7.00 line material was decidedly common. Fat steers cleared at 5.00 to 5.50 for dry fed material, the latter price taking yearling beef heifers. From 3.50 to 6.25 represented much of the grassy stock while canners and cutters were listed at 2.25 to 3.00.

Bologna bulls closed at the top end of a 50 to 75 cent advance, bulk 4.00 to 4.75. Veal calves also developed a sharp spurt, averaging $1.00 or more higher for the week with $9.00 to $9.25 top sort packers.

Stockers and feeders eased off slightly under a poor country demand, closing prices weak to 25 cents lower, bulk offerings 4.00 to 6.00. Fat lamb values fluctuated daily, closing 25 cents lower. Better grades about 12.00 to 13.00. Sheep prices soared under a light supply, heavy to handweight ewes closed at 3.75 to 5.50, fully 25 cents higher than a week ago.

Receipts today include 50 cattle, 1,000 hogs and 100 sheep.

DISPUTE CANNOT
INVOLVE TREATY

Dublin, July 12.—Appointment of the judicial committee of the British Privy Council to examine the legal aspects of the naming of the Irish Boundary Commission, has brought forth the statement from the former Free State attorney general, Hugh Kennedy, now a member of the Supreme Court, that "no question of interpretation of the treaty has been or can be referred to the judicial committee so far as the government of the Free State is concerned."
The work of the commission, it is pointed out, will in reality be an attempt on the part of the British government to anticipate any difficulties which might arise after the Boundary Commission had made its award, which will have the force of law and will probably automatically transfer various populations from one jurisdiction to another. Thorough investigation by the committee is expected to obviate any claim that the commission was not legally constituted, with a consequent demand for nullification of its award.
Numerous legal questions are involved. As Ulster refused to appoint a member of the commission the committee, which will represent the highest court of appeal in the empire, will be called upon to decide in advance whether the British government may nominate an Ulster representative, either directly or indirectly, and what legislation is necessary to thoroughly legalize the proceedings.

Of Loud Speaker?

Solenoid Type With Wood
Horn Considered Most Efficient

There are three kinds of loud speakers.
1. Those by which a simple head-phone is attached to a horn by means of clamps.
2. Those that have a telephone receiver at the base of the horn, or attached more closely than the first class.
3. Those built on the solenoid principle in which the currents act on a coil placed in the field of a strongly energized magnet.
The last is most efficient, although the other two are effective sound producers. The difficulty with them is that strong signals cause the diaphragm to strike the magnet and produce rattles. Also, when the plate voltage is high a direct current flowing through the magnet exerts a strong pull on the diaphragm and causes distortion.
In the solenoid type the gap between coil and diaphragm is constant and fluctuations of current do not change the impedance of the circuit. Thus no matter how weak or how strong the signals, the sounds are not distorted.
The shape of the horn, it has been found by experiment, should be straight, rather than curved and the opening has to be regulated in size in proportion to the length.
Wood is the best material. Paper mache also is good. A metal horn gives a brassy overtone and produces vibrations in itself.
Hang up the phones when not in use, so that the cords will not be kinked.

WOULD SPEND
BILLION HERE
ON HIGHWAYS

Amount of Money Which
Should be Spent Based on R.
R. Experience, Black Says

"One billion dollars would be a very low estimate of the amount of money which should be expended on North Dakota roads if railroad experience in this country was to be followed in highway construction," says W. G. Black, Chief Engineer of the State Highway Commission.
"Railroads have less than 16 per cent of each dollar invested in trains and other rolling stock, and the big share of the remaining capital is in right-of-way, road bed, bridges and so forth.
"If North Dakota owners of some $100,000,000 worth of automobiles and trucks were to follow out this experience of the railroads, there would be over $1,000,000,000 to be annually used in highway construction," said Mr. Black.
"Instead of this we find that North Dakota car owners are putting, annually, about $1,000,000 or less than 5 cents for each dollar invested in rolling stock into roads on which to use the machines," he continued.
More than to even suggest the economy of putting a mere hundredth of the warranted sum into better roads, Mr. Black explained, the figures were given to stress the importance of putting a fair portion, as based on the experiences of railroads, into roads as compared to the outlay for "rolling stock."

TALES OF OLD DAYS IN STATE TOLD IN BOOK

Historical Society Volume Contains Much Material That Is Interesting

The fifth volume of the Collections of the State Historical Society of North Dakota, edited by Dr. O. C. Libby of the University of North Dakota, has just come from the press and contains much of interest to pioneers of the state, and to those interested in the beginnings of North Dakota's history.

The biography by Grace Greenwood of D. M. Holmes, prominent in Masonry and civic enterprises, gives a vivid picture of the growth of the eastern part of the state, particularly Grand Forks, where Holmes made his home after coming to North Dakota, outside of a short period spent in Pembina. The necessity for versatility in pioneer life is strikingly depicted in Holmes' career, for he was at one time or another following his arrival in this state a surveyor, a lumberman, a telegraph operator, a druggist and a lawyer, besides holding several county offices.

In 1876 Holmes with a number of other men, left Grand Forks for an expedition into the Black Hills, where it was rumored there were rich gold deposits. In the diary which Holmes kept very complete during the whole adventure, is found an interesting commentary on the trip across the state, and into South Dakota. At Bismarck Holmes records that he attended two dances, and the party had a gun stolen the first night; then a storm arose, which prevented the arrival of trains, and held up the expedition for two weeks. The diary is replete with colorful incidents, and faithful description of the country passed over.

Burleigh county suffered at least five changes in boundary line, before it acquired its present dimensions, according to the accounts given by Luella J. Hall of the formation of the counties of North Dakota. The article is profusely illustrated by maps which indicate clearly such important change in the county lines.

A picturesque story is that of the W-Bar ranch on the Missouri slope, by Bertha M. Kuhn, relating the history of Pierre Wibaux, energetic Frenchman, who founded his ranch about the same time as the Marquis de Mores began his original "Get Rich Quick" schemes, and Theodore Roosevelt became a cowboy near Medora. The story of Wibaux's rise to the title of "Cattle King" of his "White House," and of the obstacles he overcame in his little kingdom is good reading.

To lovers of Indian history, the history of Turtle Mountain Chippewa, by John Hesketh, and the sketch of the Minnesota massacre by Victor Renville will be an attraction. Both accounts show in detail the life in the matter of detailed information, clearly written, and contain some striking descriptive passages.

The book clearly indicates its experienced editing and will be interesting, not only to students, but to anyone who likes a well written narrative of the truth that is so often stranger than fiction.

Slope County Bank Case Is Up On Appeal

Appeal has been taken to the supreme court in the case in which the State Bonding Fund seeks to have itself declared a preferred creditor in the defunct First State and Slope County Banks of Amidon, to recover $56,254.33; the amount recovered from the bonding fund by Slope county because of public deposits lost in the bank failures. The case, which is against L. R. Baird, receiver, and J. S. Douglas, county treasurer at the time the money was deposited and lost, is brought by S. A. Olness, as Commissioner of Insurance. He asks that the money which had been deposited be declared a trust fund, that the assets of the bank be impressed with trust for the amount, and that the bonding fund have preference in its claim upon all of the assets of the bank, and he paid before the claims of the creditors of the bank are allowed.

Foster And Gitlow Indorsed

Chicago, July 12.—The candidacy of William Z. Foster and Benjamin Gitlow of New York, nominated respectively for president and vice-president by the Workers party of America has been indorsed by the Farmer-Labor party, which will not support Senator Robert M. La Follette, indorsed for president last week at the conference for progressive political action.

Announcement of the party's action was made by the executive committee, which consented to the withdrawal of Duncan McDonald of Illinois, and William Bouck, Washington, recently named as the Farmer-Labor convention at St. Paul. Indorsement of La Follette by the Cleveland conference, "betrayed the Farmer-Labor masses into the hands of merchants, manufacturers, bankers and rich farmers, and thus destroyed the only chance for a united front campaign in the coming presidential election," the national executive committee of the Farmer-Labor party said in a statement.

NEW LEASE ON LIFE!

Eight-Hour Day Makes Steel Workers Happy and Contented

BY GEORGE BRITT
NEA Service Writer

Gary, Ind., July 12.—These thousands of blackened, overworked men, swinging dinner buckets, who troop up Broadway from the "works" every day are a changed crowd.

The 12-hour day, Old Man of the Sea upon the back of the steel industry, has been eliminated with the apparent result of better workers, a better town and better business.

There's snap in their step, animation in their talk, and smiles on their faces as they come from work. Those who ride the street cars, according to the conductors, are more cheerful than they used to be—more boisterous, more argumentative, not such limp automatons.

They are better men to have about the house, say their wives and mothers. They pay more attention to the children and have reduced the truancy rate at school.

Bank Clearings Gain
They are buying better merchandise, say the merchants. Working 12 hours a day, they would send their wives to the stores, even for their own shirts and suits. Now they go shopping even for their own shirts and suits. Now they go shopping with their wives and demand better goods.

Gary bank clearings for the first four months this year were $67,949,000. They were only $64,114,000 for the same period last year when the longer hours were in effect at the mills.

The steel mills basketball league had 25 teams this past winter as compared with 10 the year before, when hours were longer. The public schools' vocational classes were crowded this winter with voluntary applicants, without any effort to get pupils.

With the sudden acquisition of hours of free time, the men remained sober and orderly. Arrests show no advance, says Chief of Police W. A. Forbis.

Corporation Profits, Too
This increase in happiness and human well-being, forced on the industry by American public opinion, is costing 10 per cent in steel production, according to Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation. Yet the corporation would appear to be bearing up under it.

The directors voted an extra 50 cents per share to the quarterly dividends on common stock in January and April, making it, as Judge Gary said, virtually "a 7 per cent stock." Net earnings for the first quarter of 1924 for the entire steel corporation, were reported as $80,075,443.

This is the largest in the history of the corporation except during 1923, when more than $15,000,000 greater than during the first quarter of last year.

Twice since the 12-hour day was eliminated, in October and March, the Gary works have set world's records for volume of pig iron production.

Some workers bitterly dislike the shorter work day of eight or ten hours. They are mostly husky young foreigners who can stand the heat, who prefer to toil longer hours, draw more money, and get back sooner to affluent peasant-hood overseas.

Sometimes, now they work two shifts in succession. Low wages is the chief complaint. The scale went up some as the working day was shortened. Common labor, the majority classification, gets 50 cents an hour instead of 40 cents. That means $4 for an 8-hour day instead of $4.80 for a 12-hour day.

GLOVES LARGER
It is now the fad to wear gloves that are a bit too large and may be wrinkled very casually over the hand, particularly in suede.

Surprise Visit to Portia

By KATE MUNROE

As the lights went down a hush of expectation settled over the audience at the theater. Most of the faces were alight with anticipation, but the old man and woman in the back seats of the first balcony looked very grave. They were country people, and they had never been to a theater before.

"Please God, it isn't true, Mary," said the old man.

His wife pressed his hand gently. She knew how deeply he felt upon the subject.

It was for those simple minds a tragic situation. Their daughter, Lucy had left the farm three years before. And some meddlesome busybody had told the old people that she was actually an actress.

To their simple minds there could have been nothing more degrading. The stage was the scene of all that was vile in the world. They had come up to town, without announcing their intentions, and were now awaiting the rising of the curtain upon the first act of "The Merchant of Venice."

Portia does not appear at the beginning of this play. And before she had come on the stage the old people were staring in wonder at the magnificence of the setting. More than that, in place of the immortality which they had expected to find incalculated, they found a story so gripping, so pathetic that they were spellbound.

But when Portia appeared they leaned forward with a revival of their old terror. Portia was Lucy!—Miss Margaret Lake, as she was called. It was true, then!

There was almost an expression of pride, but there was also bewilderment. His Lucy! Their little girl! How could this be she!

So the play went on toward its climactic scene. And now William Mullins and his wife were following the developments with bated breath. And the life-long horror of the stage was forgotten. And when the great trial scene came on, and Shylock sharpened his knife, and things looked bad for his enemy, tears came into their eyes.

"He'll get him, Mary!" whispered her husband.

"Sh-sh!" rang out the angry whispers; and he subsided into his seat in dismay at the storm he had raised.

But when Portia came in, attired as the doctor of laws, William Mullins knew her immediately.

"That's Lucy!" he whispered. "Mother! That's our girl! Look at her!"

He sat now like a man entranced, staring at her. And when she confronted Shylock with her learning, when, after appealing to his humanity in vain, she ruthlessly unmasked the laws and drove him, suppliant, before the judge's seat, the father could restrain himself no longer.

He stood up in his seat and waved his hand.

"My Griddy, Lucy, you've got him!" he yelled. "Good girl! That's the way! Teach the rogue a lesson! Tell his honor not to let him get away with his life! No mercy!"

There were no longer whispers of remonstrance. Instead, there was an uproarious outburst of laughter, with a salvo of hearty handclapping to follow. And the old parents, shrinking back into their seats, the observed of every eye, saw that Lucy had seen them. They sat still in their seats, bewildered and dazed, long after the curtain had fallen, and the theater had begun to empty. An usher came toward them.

"Mr. and Mrs. Mullins?" he inquired blandly, casting curious glances at the old couple. "Miss Margaret Lake would like to see you in her dressing room. Will you step this way, please?"

Their daughter was waiting. She was attired in her street gown, and she had carefully washed every trace of paint from her face.

As the old couple halted, rather sheepishly, at the door, Lucy ran toward them, and was clasped in their arms.

"Father!" she cried. "So you have found me out? And mother, too! Why didn't you let me know, and I would have had a box for you!"

"By gum, Lucy, what would we do with a box?" ejaculated her father. "Why, Lucy, we wanted to be somewhere where we could see you. We couldn't have seen you in a box, Lucy. The way you did up that Drylocks fellow was scrumptious. Some darned old tabby told us you were on the stage, and we come down here to save you from ruin—but I guess we don't mind now as much as we did—do we, mother?"

And then Lucy insisted on introducing them to her friends—to Mr. Grosvenor, the "star" and to various subordinate members of the company. Altogether it was a night of surprises for the old people.

But as they went out together, Lucy made an excuse to run back for something, and she caught Mr. Grosvenor by the arm.

"I wish we had told them everything!" she whispered. "Shall I, Philip?"

He nodded and she went on. "Did you ever stop to think, my dear, it's just old people like these—our fathers and mothers in far-away villages—that make the stage as good as it is today, and keep so many of us better than we would be, perhaps?"

Child Lepers Are Many in India

London, July 12.—The British Empire Leprosy Relief Association has embarked upon a campaign to save the child lepers of India, according to Frank Oldreive, the secretary of the association.

"India has thousands of these blighted children," Mr. Oldreive said recently. "In the asylums of the Mission to Lepers alone are between 400 and 500 of them, and they may be seen by the score wherever lepers congregate."

Race Going Is Costly in Ireland

Dublin, July 12. (A. P.)—Irish racing is experiencing a slump, and a conference is to be held in Dublin to examine into the causes and find a remedy.

The officials of the Irish National Hunt Club and of the Turf Club have been invited to attend. The three chief causes of the slump are described as too many officials, the increase in the number of weight-for-age races, and the heavy expenses of race-grooms.

"That's Lucy!" he whispered. "Mother! That's our girl! Look at her!"

He sat now like a man entranced, staring at her. And when she confronted Shylock with her learning, when, after appealing to his humanity in vain, she ruthlessly unmasked the laws and drove him, suppliant, before the judge's seat, the father could restrain himself no longer.

He stood up in his seat and waved his hand.

"My Griddy, Lucy, you've got him!" he yelled. "Good girl! That's the way! Teach the rogue a lesson! Tell his honor not to let him get away with his life! No mercy!"

There were no longer whispers of remonstrance. Instead, there was an uproarious outburst of laughter, with a salvo of hearty handclapping to follow. And the old parents, shrinking back into their seats, the observed of every eye, saw that Lucy had seen them. They sat still in their seats, bewildered and dazed, long after the curtain had fallen, and the theater had begun to empty. An usher came toward them.

"Mr. and Mrs. Mullins?" he inquired blandly, casting curious glances at the old couple. "Miss

Falkland Fisheries To Supply British

London, July 12. (A. P.)—Fisheries experts recently have noted with anxiety that the great fishing grounds of the North Sea, which supply most of the sea food used on English tables, are becoming rapidly depleted through the energy of travel fishermen who, since the end of the world war, have greatly increased in number.

The same condition, it is pointed out, existed in 1914, but the world war made fishing on a large scale virtually impossible, and as a consequence of the four closed years the runs increased greatly. In the last year or so fishermen have been forced to go further and further afield, and it is even suggested that the opening of the great fishing grounds off the Falkland Islands might be advisable. This would mean establishment of a special service of refrigerating steamers to bring the catch to British ports.

Free service batteries when your battery needs charging or repairs.

Free delivery of service batteries in exchange for your battery to be charged or repaired.

Think of the saving—with no rent to pay while your battery is being taken care of—this is especially appreciated when you own a Radio.

No doubt it never occurred to you that it is cheaper to rent a battery than own one, because it was never possible under the old rental conditions. But under our plan it is cheaper—with no worries as to the length of a battery guarantee—no need of repairs—no expense for winter storage, which generally amounts to five or six dollars.

GIVE A THOUGHT TO TOURISTS
People of North Dakota may well give a thought to the strangers within their gates during the summer season when thousands of tourists are passing through. It is probable that many more than fifty thousand residents of other states will cross North Dakota from west to east or from east to west during the present summer, and a large number of them will pass through Bismarck on the National Parks Highway. The usual hospitality of Dakotans may be counted on to insure the visitors courteous treatment at all times, and a score of cities and towns have done what they can to make the visitors' trip more pleasant by arranging camps and information bureaus. But there is the opportunity to do more than merely accord them the friendly western grip. Each tourist will carry his impressions, or his opinion, of North Dakota to far distant points, and will, in the nature of things, expound to others. Every resident of the state, of course, desires that the impression conveyed shall be a true one. There is offered the opportunity to all North Dakota residents to see that tourists do appreciate the boundless resources of North Dakota, and that it offers a great outlet for the energies of thousands of middle western farmers who desire to own their own homes and to prosper.

EDUCATION IS NOT ALL
He was good and straight and respected for 49 years, and then—

Arthur W. Kent, old and broken, was taken to the jail at Ann Arbor, Michigan.

He had been schoolmaster, teacher of history, leader of a Sunday School class, general helper and adviser to young ideas. Now he is at the end of things, for, in a brief two years, he wrecked a lifetime of honor.

Wife became sick. His salary never had been large, as seems the sad lot of the school teacher, and grave need faced him. He fell.

A bogus check was passed. It did not save the wife and it destroyed him. His conscience pricked and he fled from his crime, fled from himself. Into the far places of the country he sped, always with the hand of the law reaching for him.

But he wrote other worthless checks—it was easy to default—but they only relieved the body but not the soul. His flight became more desperate. Always, always, the law was but a few steps behind him.

"I never knew happiness in those two years of flight," he says. "I never knew what it was to live blissfully or sleep soundly. Always fearing, always fleeing."

Now the law has caught him—caught him, an old, broken, helpless wreck, body and soul. "I have learned the lesson I have taught so many of my students," he tearfully says. "Education is nothing without moral stability."

Yes, he has learned the truth too late for himself, but in time to point a moral for others.

Education is not all. Character must be its companion, for brains that know not the leash of morality only make crime more hideous.

Poor, wrecked, old Kent knows this now and the best he can do with what is left of him is to offer himself as a terrible example.

STUMPED
In a recent week, with business supposed to be dull, the nation's bank clearings totaled $87 for every $80 of bank checks sent through the clearing houses in the corresponding week of last year—when times were booming.

People haven't been spending more than in 1923. They haven't been on any orgy of paying bills. Prices haven't been higher to show up in the form of inflated clearings.

If you can explain the gain, step to the head of the class. The business experts are stumped.

SCARED
All past records are being broken in the amount of life insurance taken out by the American people. So far this year over a fifth more life insurance has been written than in 1923, when a new record was hung up. If the rate continues, the 1924 total of new policies will be 11 billion dollars. There was a time when this would have indicated 11 billion dollars of fear. Now it represents 11 billions of sensible investment—the surest and easiest way to save.

BACKFIRE
Most problems of economics adjust automatically if given enough time.

High sugar prices tempted Cubans to plant a larger crop for 1924. The larger crop smashed the wholesale market price.

Overproduction is the surest, quickest way to lower cost of living. (Also to lower incomes.)

PINKERTON
Crime doesn't pay, but crime detection does. Court action discloses that the late William A. Pinkerton, detective, left an estate of two million dollars.

A super-crook might steal two millions, but he wouldn't have it long. Blackmail by other crooks is the chief thing that dissipates their plunder. Word of a big haul goes through the underworld and brings the buzzards.

TAXED
Groans from railroads because they paid national and state taxes of over $900,000 a day in 1923, or three times as much as before the war.

The railroads don't really pay this. The public pays. Railroads are simply collectors for Uncle Sam and the states. This is the fly in the ointment, to critics who delight to have the roads heavily taxed.

Dempsey says fast footwork is necessary in fighting. It is often more necessary in not fighting.

Editorial Review

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

THE NOMINATING SYSTEM

The high importance of the power to control or dictate nominations for political office is dwelt upon by Mr. Kent in his recent book, which is so close a study of the workings of a party machine.

He attributes to this power a very large part of the strength of a city boss, ranking the ability to nominate even above that to elect. The boss may now and then lose an election, but if he still retains, and is known to retain, such a hold upon his party organization as will place in his hands the naming of all the important candidates in the next election, his grip may continue unbroken.

We have seen this truth illustrated again and again in New York. The late Boss Murphy frequently suffered disastrous defeats at the polls, but so long as he could go on designating nominations for judgeships, for Congress, even for the governorship, he came up smiling after each of the electoral beatings which were expected to break his power.

This kind of close-corporation control in national politics long since passed away. No one man, no small group of men, can now decide beforehand who is to be nominated as President.

The abolition of the old unit rule in the Republican Party and its partial abandonment by the Democrats have brought about conditions which may not be satisfactory in all respects, but which, at all events, have made an end of the open and unblinking boss system, as exhibited on the federal stage.

The existing gods of the machine have to be more refined and secretive in their methods. The avowed and even brutal dictation of other days would not be tolerated now. At least this amount of things must be given to the later forms of the national convention.

Not even its stoutest defenders, however, could maintain that it is a wholly admirable institution which functions well. Both Cleveland and New York this year things were done to make the judicial grievance.

A foreign observer planted in a national convention to study the ways of the American democracy in action would certainly get some disagreeable impressions. He would see the delegates too often conducting themselves like either crazy people or small children.

He would see an immense amount of time and energy absolutely wasted.

If he were asked to mention any political organization on earth which seemed so inefficient, so often absurd, so frequently paralyzed as a national convention in the United States, he would not know where to find it.

The thing is not always so bad as it seems. Behind the silly demonstrations, the empty speeches and the enthusiastic marching up hill only to march down again there usually exists a definite purpose and a genuine conviction of conviction which in the end have their way.

Often a happy result leads the public to forget or pardon the most unhappy preliminaries.

Yet something ought to be done to remove the impression of almost lawless or lawless and in fact manifestations which almost regularly mark the first days of a national convention.

One convention cannot, of course, bind its successor. But it might recommend a few sensible rules, and get the national committee and its officers to enforce them, for the purpose of preventing the grosser abuses and the fantastic and futile performances which occur under the present system.

It might be provided that anyone for any candidate should not be allowed to exceed five minutes. Some of the things which happened in New York last week strongly indicate that the national convention is in need of being saved from its own professed friends.—New York Times.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"I don't believe you're ever going to get my picture," said Mrs. Woodchuck crossly to Nick. "Ever since I came here things have gone wrong."

And at that minute, to make things worse, her hat slid down over her eyes, and Nancy had to fix her hair over again.

But by and by she got settled and Nick said, "Now look pleasant, please," and the camera went click, and the picture was taken and it was all over.

I hope you didn't mind me looking on," said a voice just then, and looking around they saw Mrs. Cottontail.

"Why, Mrs. Cottontail, I didn't see you," said Mrs. Woodchuck. "I didn't hear you come in at all!"

"Well, here I am," laughed Mrs. Cottontail. "I came to get my picture taken. You were all talking so much I don't suppose you could hear anything but your own voices."

"It's to be a secret about my picture," said Mrs. Woodchuck. "I'm having it taken for a surprise for Wally's birthday tomorrow and he mustn't know a word about it. I know you won't tell."

Not a word, Mrs. Woodchuck, said Mrs. Cottontail. "I'll be as silent as—as as anything."

"When will my pictures be done?" asked Mrs. Woodchuck.

"They'll be done at half past five," said Nick.

"Just mail the pictures to Mister Wally W. Woodchuck. They'll come before breakfast and I'll lay the package on his plate as though it was a letter. Good-by, Nick! Good-by, Nancy! Goodday, Mrs. Cottontail!"

"Happy birthday!" said Mrs. Wood-

FABLES ON HEALTH
LEARN FROM FIDO

"You may call them dumb animals," remarked the Jones family doctor one day, pointing to the dog and cat comfortably stretched out upon the floor. "But I'd hate to be asked my frank opinion of whether we were dumber than they under some circumstances."

"There's many a pointer we could take from them."

"Did you ever notice how they lie down after eating? How many humans do you know that do that? Most would well imitate the animal habit of a rest after eating. The animal knows instinctively that its body should rest and have its own natural way after digestion has started."

"I don't mean by that that the average human should sleep for two or three hours; but there should be a relaxation and rest of some sort while digestion gets under way."

"A nap of from five to fifteen minutes would be all that is required. Remember the blood has gone to the stomach and that's why you feel like taking a nap."

"Also a dog doesn't eat when it is sick and stretches itself after lying down. If man would follow such instincts he'd be better off."

50,000 CATTLE HAVE STELLAR ROLE IN MOVIE OF SOUTHWEST

By Jack Jungmeyer
NEA Service Writer

Hollywood, July 12.—Cattle from a thousand hills, assembled in a great rodeo, carry the stellar role in the picture "Sundown," First National's epic of the range country soon to be shown.

Like "The Covered Wagon," "America," "The Birth of a Nation," it depicts a significant phase of our national life—the dose of the past rodeo, the historic and historic perspective and scope; it is a film document of a vanishing breed of men and beasts and the land they prepared for closer settlement.

Human drama rides in stirrups and chuck wagon beside the hoofed legions of drama, springing from encroachment of homesteaders upon the cattle provinces of the elder west, from stampede, prairie fire, financial crisis and hard straits.

But the individual actors, giving of their best, are dwarfed by the massed animals, 50,000 strong, winding from foreground to horizon through the picture in the slow curving line of melancholy, the line of yearning and regret which gives "Sundown" its distinctive tone.

Then, in a moment, at the smell of water, the placid mass converted into a terrible catapult, wiping out everything in the path of stampede, including the home of the nestor family whose daughter provides the love interest—an awesome scene that, with the girl and her lover stranded in a sea of tossing horns.

Again, poignant pathos when the cowhands, after immortal custom, sing down the herd for the night with plaintive chant—the prairie lullaby for animals treated like children.

It should prove a memorable picture, this dramatic summing up of a glorious western day now come to its sundown. For those who cannot sense the molding effect of his domestic animals upon man's destiny, there may be too much film devoted to the herd. For me "Sundown" carries a powerful appeal.

Although conventional romance is subordinated, Bessie Love, the eastern girl who brings her family from the city for elbow room and Roy Stewart, as son of the cattle baron crowded from his range, provides engrossing sentimental passages as their love develops beside the moving cattle.

Hobart Bosworth is an imposing figure as the cattlemen.

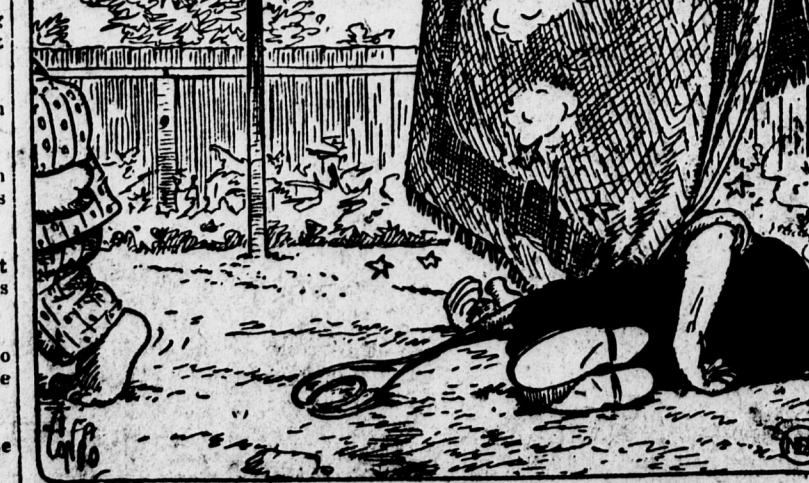

Charlie Murray gives a capital characterization as driver of the chuck wagon, a preambulator for the march-weary—the nestor family, a calf, a spent old rider, all given asylum with gruff tenderness. A very sort of fun to lighten the serious and at times mournful tone of the play.

Laurence Trimble and Harry O. Hoyt shared honors in directing. The concluding scene, where the vast herd crosses a railroad track between impatient passenger trains, and so fate, Mexico, is symbolized to words put into the mouth of E. J. Retiche, an actor giving a consummate portrayal of Roosevelt.

"You could put your cowboys and cattle a mile deep from Canada to Mexico, but you cannot stop the encroachment of civilization."

INVENTED BY WOMEN

By Albert Apple

Did you ever know a woman to invent anything? American women have invented and patented nearly 1400 devices. A check-up shows that when women put their inventive ingenuity to work they usually turn out household appliances. Women have created washing machines, kitchen cabinets, holders for hot pans, carpet beaters, mattress turners, mouse traps and so on through a long list.

Next thing that makes them cudgel their brains is wearing apparel. All the way from hooks-and-eyes to artificial eye-lashes.

Farm women have invented and patented many such things as incubators, churns, windmills, tractors and seed planters.

Business women have originated railroad equipment, office supplies, toys, musical instruments, road-building equipment, and intricate machinery.

When old man Howe was trying to invent the sewing machine, he reached the point where he was stumped. His wife got tired of having him sit around in the way. She shoved him aside, sat down before his machine, gave it a few whirrs and said: "Put the thread eyelet in the other end of the needle, down by the point."

In a flash she solved the problem that had baffled him for years. He got all the credit, of course.

Woman is quick to find a solution to problems. One invented a cow-tail holder to stop being swished during milking. Another devised a stronger chopping bowl after the one she was using split in two and spilled its contents in her lap. Still another invented a pie pan with a special lid to keep juices from boiling over into the oven.

The list is long, these things created and patented by women. It includes nearly every major form of human activity. Woman, whose place once was in the home in fact, is steadily branching out into an increasing multitude of industries.

All of which is not surprising to any man who has ever observed and marveled at the thousands of things women can do with that marvelous contraption, a bent hairpin.

LETTER FROM MRS. JOSEPH GRAVES HAMILTON TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

MY DEAR DAUGHTER: I'm very much disappointed at not being able to be with you on your anniversary, but, Leslie dear, I am very much worried over your father. He's not very well, and since he arrived home his business cares, because of his long absence, have doubled and been most troublesome. He misses Mrs. Atherton very much.

Of course the whole house is upset with preparations for Alice's wedding. I wonder if you remember that at the time of your marriage she said she was not going to have a big wedding—that she hated them. Now she seems to be obsessed with only one idea—that her wedding is to be a much larger, much grander, and much more expensive society event than yours.

Leslie dear, I am very much concerned over Alice's marriage. She seems lately to have become very nervous. He has gotten to a point now where he treats his own daughter with the most consummate politeness and keeps out of her way as much as possible.

He speaks of you very often, my dear. You have always been such a good daughter to us, and we are so glad that you are happy in your home.

The check in this letter is from your father as a little present to you on your anniversary. Do with it what you please. Do the thing that will give you the greatest pleasure. It is sent with all the love of

YOUR MOTHER AND FATHER.

P. S.—Your father asked me to write this letter for him as well as myself but I am sure he did not intend to be so very confidential.

Sorority Luncheon For Mrs. Derby

Mrs. Florence Davis was hostess today at a charming one o'clock luncheon at the Grand Pacific, celebrating the occasion of the second wedding anniversary of her daughter, Mrs. Elaine Baldwin Derby, of Shidler, Okla., who arrived here recently to be the guest of her mother for several weeks.

Members of national sororities who are now in Bismarck, were the guests, covers being laid for 23. White roses, and place cards decorated with pansies, the flower of Kappa Alpha Theta, Mrs. Derby's sorority, were the decorations. Mrs. Davis was assisted by Miss Minnie J. Nielson.

Following the luncheon, plans for Bismarck Pan-Hellenic were discussed, and Miss Madge Runey was appointed temporary chairman to call a meeting later for permanent organization.

An interesting feature of the luncheon was the little talk given by Miss Agnes Orr, Pi Beta Phi, describing the picture of Mrs. Calvin Goodridge, a Pi Phi, which is being painted by Howard Chandler Christy, and which the Pi Beta Phi sorority is presenting to the White House. Mrs. Goodridge is the first fraternal woman to be mistress of the White House.

GIVE A THOUGHT TO TOURISTS
People of North Dakota may well give a thought to the strangers within their gates during the summer season when thousands of tourists are passing through. It is probable that many more than fifty thousand residents of other states will cross North Dakota from west to east or from east to west during the present summer, and a large number of them will pass through Bismarck on the National Parks Highway. The usual hospitality of Dakotans may be counted on to insure the visitors courteous treatment at all times, and a score of cities and towns have done what they can to make the visitors' trip more pleasant by arranging camps and information bureaus. But there is the opportunity to do more than merely accord them the friendly western grip. Each tourist will carry his impressions, or his opinion, of North Dakota to far distant points, and will, in the nature of things, expound to others. Every resident of the state, of course, desires that the impression conveyed shall be a true one. There is offered the opportunity to all North Dakota residents to see that tourists do appreciate the boundless resources of North Dakota, and that it offers a great outlet for the energies of thousands of middle western farmers who desire to own their own homes and to prosper.

EDUCATION IS NOT ALL
He was good and straight and respected for 49 years, and then—

Arthur W. Kent, old and broken, was taken to the jail at Ann Arbor, Michigan.
He had been schoolmaster, teacher of history, leader of a Sunday School class, general helper and adviser to young ideas. Now he is at the end of things, for, in a brief two years, he wrecked a lifetime of honor.

Wife became sick. His salary never had been large, as seems the sad lot of the school teacher, and grave need faced him. He fell.

A bogus check was passed. It did not save the wife and he destroyed him. His conscience pricked and he fled from his home, fled from himself. Into the far places of the country he fled, always with the hand of the law reaching for him. But he wrote other worthless checks—it was easy to do that—but they only relieved the body but not the soul. His flight became more desperate. Always, always, the law was but a few steps behind him.

"I never knew happiness in those two years of flight," he says. "I never knew what it was to live blissfully or sleep soundly. Always fearing, always fleeing."

Now the law has caught him—caught him, an old, broken, helpless wreck, body and soul. "I have learned the lesson I have taught so many of my students," he tearfully says. "Education is nothing without moral stability."

Yes, he has learned the truth too late for himself, but in time to point a moral for others.
Education is not all. Character must be its companion, for brains that know not the leash of morality only make crime more hideous.

Poor, wrecked, old Kent knows this now and the best he can do with what is left of him is to offer himself as a terrible example.

STUMPED
In a recent week, with business supposed to be dull, the nation's bank clearings totaled $87 for every $80 of bank checks sent through the clearing houses in the corresponding week of last year—when times were booming.
People haven't been spending more than in 1923. They haven't been on any orgy of paying bills. Prices haven't been higher to show up in the form of inflated clearings.
If you can explain the gain, step to the head of the class. The business experts are stumped.

SCARED
All past records are being broken in the amount of life insurance taken out by the American people. So far this year over a fifth more life insurance has been written than in 1923, when a new record was hung up. If the rate continues, the 1924 total of new policies will be 11 billion dollars. There was a time when this would have indicated 11 billion dollars of fear. Now it represents 11 billions of sensible investment—the surest and easiest way to save.

BACKFIRE
Most problems of economics adjust automatically if given enough time.
High sugar prices tempted Cubans to plant a larger crop for 1924. The larger crop smashed the wholesale market price.

Overproduction is the surest, quickest way to lower cost of living. (Also to lower incomes.)

PINKERTON
Crime doesn't pay, but crime detection does. Court action discloses that the late William A. Pinkerton, detective, left an estate of two million dollars.

A super-crook might steal two millions, but he wouldn't have it long. Blackmail by other crooks is the chief thing that dissipates their plunder. Word of a big haul goes through the underworld and brings the buzzards.

TAXED
Groans from railroads because they paid national and state taxes of over $900,000 a day in 1923, or three times as much as before the war.

The railroads don't really pay this. The public pays. The railroads are simply collectors for Uncle Sam and the states. This is the fly in the ointment, to critics who delight to have the roads heavily taxed.

Dempsey says fast footwork is necessary in fighting. It is often more necessary in not fighting.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"I don't believe you're ever going to take my picture," said Mrs. Woodchuck crossly to Nick. "Ever since I came here things have gone wrong."

And at that minute, to make things worse, her hat slid down over her eyes and Nancy had to fix her hair over again.

But by and by she got settled and Nick said, "Now look pleasant, please," and the camera went click, and the picture was taken and it was all over.

I hope you didn't mind me looking on," said a voice just then, and looking around they saw Mrs. Cottontail.

"My, Mrs. Cottontail, I didn't see you," said Mrs. Woodchuck. "I didn't hear you come in at all!"

"Well, here I am," laughed Mrs. Cottontail. "I came to get my picture taken. You were all talking so much I don't suppose you could hear anything but your own voices."

"It's to be a secret about my picture," said Mrs. Woodchuck. "I'm having it taken for a surprise for Wally's birthday tomorrow and he mustn't know a word about it. I know you won't tell."

Not a word, Mrs. Woodchuck, said Mrs. Cottontail. "I'll be as silent as—as—anything."

"When will my pictures be done?" asked Mrs. Woodchuck.

"They'll be done at half past five," said Nick.

"Just mail the pictures to Mister Wally W. Woodchuck. They'll come before breakfast and I'll lay the package on his plate as though it was a letter. Good-by, Nick. Good-by, Nancy! Good-by, Mrs. Cottontail!"

"Happy birthday!" said Mrs. Woodchuck.

chuck the next day when her husband came down to breakfast.

"Thank you, my dear!" said the woodchuck gentleman. "Why, what's this?" And he picked up the package off his plate where his wife had laid it.

"It's something that came by mail," said Mrs. Woodchuck proudly. "Open it and see."

So Mr. Woodchuck took his knife and ran it along the edge of the package and out dropped a picture.

"Well, well, well!" he remarked. "Some kind friend has sent me her picture, but I can't seem to make out just who it is. I see she has borrowed your hat, my dear, but my how her ears do stick up through it! Most remarkable, I should say."

"Mrs. Woodchuck seized the picture and gave one shriek of dismay. Mrs. Cottontail had been standing right behind her when Nick took the picture and he took Mrs. Cottontail's, too, although none of the rest of her could be seen at all."

Mrs. Woodchuck put on her hat and marched right over to Happy Go Lucky Park.

"I can't tell you all that happened but pretty soon Mister Zip put up a sign over the door of the photograph place which said 'Closed!'"

And it's been closed ever since. (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

THE NOMINATING SYSTEM

The high importance of the power to control or dictate nominations for political office is dwelt upon by Mr. Kent in his recent book, which is so close a study of the workings of a party machine.

He attributes to this power a very large part of the strength of a city boss, ranking the ability to nominate even above that to elect. The boss may now and then lose an election, but if he still retains and is known to retain, such a hold upon his party organization as will place in his hands the naming of all the important candidates in the next election, his grip may continue unbroken.

We have seen this truth illustrated again and again in New York. The late Boss Murphy frequently suffered disastrous defeats at the polls, but so long as he could go on designating nominations for judgeships, for Congress, even for the governorship, he came up smiling after each of the electoral beatings which were expected to break his power.

This kind of close-corporation control in national politics long since passed away. No one man, no small group of men, can now decide beforehand who is to be nominated as President.

The abolition of the old unit rule in the Republican Party, its partial abandonment by the Democrats, have brought about conditions which may not be satisfactory in all respects, but which, at all events, have made an end of the open and unblushing boss system, as exhibited on the federal stage.

The existing gods of the machine have to be more refined and secretive in their methods. They are no longer to be tolerated, and even the most brutal dictation of other days would not be tolerated now. At least this amount of credit must be given to the later forms of the national convention.

Not even its stoutest defenders, however, could maintain that it is a wholly admirable institution which functions well. Both at Cleveland and New York this year things were done to make the judicial crisis grave.

A foreign observer planted in a national convention to study the ways of the American democracy in action would certainly get some disagreeable impressions. He would see the delegates too often conducting themselves like either crazy people or small children. He would see an immense amount of time and energy absolutely wasted.

If we were asked to mention any political organization on earth which seemed so inefficient, so often absurd, so frequently paralyzed as a national convention in the United States, he would not know where to find it.

The thing is not always so bad as it seems. Behind the silly demonstrations, the empty speeches, and the enthusiastic marching up hill only to march down again there usually exists a definite purpose and a movement of concentration which in the end have their way. Often a happy result leads the public to forget or pardon the most unhappy preliminaries.

Yet something ought to be done to remove the impression of aimless dawdling or insincere and insubstantial manifestations which almost invariably mark the first days of a national convention.

A national cannot, of course, be a successor. But it might recommend a few sensible rules, and the national committee also, to remove the impression of aimless dawdling or insubstantial manifestations which almost invariably mark the first days of a national convention.

SOX SLUGGER TAKES LEAD IN BATTING RACE

"Bib" Falk, by Sensational Rush, Mounts to the Top of the Ladder

RUTH IN SECOND PLACE

Chicago, July 12.—A sensational drive that produced fourteen hits in seven games rushed "Bib" Falk, outfielder with the Chicago White Sox, to the batting leadership of the American League today with an average of .372.

Falk was fifth in the rating a week ago, with an average of .345. Although his hitting efforts were confined to spaces within fences, five of his safe blows were batters. He averaged two hits a game for the last week and is showing no inclination to relinquish the lead.

Babe Ruth is clinging to second place with an average of .365, with Jamieson of Cleveland third with .363. The idle Boone of Boston is up among the pace makers with .351, followed by Cobb of Detroit in fifth place with .345. Goslin of Washington and Sheely of Chicago have been doing some telling work with their bats and Harry Heilmann of the Tigers, who set the pace at most since the start of the season, is getting no worse.

Ruth added two home runs to his collection, bringing it up to twenty-two. He is in no apparent danger of being overtaken as he is eight ahead of Ken Williams of St. Louis and Hauser of Philadelphia.

Collins of Chicago has not much competition on the bases, the White Sox captain having pilfered 21, the figures including games of last Wednesday.

Other leading batters: Goslin, Washington .344; Sheely, Chicago, .338; Heilmann, Detroit, .337; Prothro, Washington, .333; Mostil, Chicago, .332; Meusel, New York, .331; Collins, Boston, .331.

The hitting in the National League has been consistent, if not sensational. The leaders remain undisturbed with Hornsby of St. Louis showing the way with .332. Wheat of Brooklyn is batting second with .329, and Snyder of the Giants third with .324. Kelly also of the Giants is fourth with .321.

Bressler of Cincinnati grabbed off a flock of hits before Daubert returned to the game and the substitute first sack of the Giants third with .324. Kelly also of the Giants is fourth with .321.

Although Fournier of Brooklyn has been swinging a mean club in long distance hitting, he has sagged in general average. Fournier has connected with 17 homers, while Williams of Philadelphia and Hornsby are tied for second honors with nine apiece.

Carey of Pittsburgh has been setting a sensational pace in base stealing, leading with twenty, while Grantham of Chicago second with seventeen.

Other leading batters: Gowdy, New York, .346; Youngs, New York, .345; Roush, Cincinnati, .345; Fournier, Brooklyn, .337; Grisby, Chicago, .335; Grantham, Chicago, .326; Frisch, New York, .325.

In the A. A. The race for premier batting honors of the American Association has developed into a three cornered scrap involving St. Paul, Kansas City, and Drexel and Neun of St. Paul. Brief at present is leading the third man by four points. He is batting .395, Neun .393 and Drexel with .391.

Haus of St. Paul furnished the sensation of the home run clatters, going up from six to ten within a week. Reb Russell of Columbus added one and leads with fourteen. He is closely pursued by Smith of Louisville, who has compiled a dozen. Haus is now tied with Brief, who also added one to his total.

Neun, in addition to having looked after his batting average, has added to stolen bases for a total of twenty-nine.

Other leading batters: Allen, Indianapolis, .361; Christensen, Indianapolis, .359; Shannon, Louisville, .346; Smith, Minneapolis, .346; Brooks, Columbus, .346; Maguire, Toledo, .337; Bell, Milwaukee, .335.

Batters of the Southern Association have been unable to jar Smith of Atlanta loose from the top of the heap. He has receded slightly in percentage, but still is an easy first with .382, followed by Carlisle of Memphis with .369, and Lapan of Little Rock with .355. Lapan and Carlisle switched positions within the last week.

The heavy clouting of Anderson of Chattanooga lived up to the race for home run honors. He connected with three, giving him a total of fifteen. Paschal of Atlanta seems to be Anderson's only rival, but he is still three behind, having been able to hook up with one during the week.

No one caught up with Marriott of Mobile in stolen bases, although Stewart of Birmingham is hanging on grimly. Marriott is leading with 32, while Stewart's total is twenty-five.

Other leading batters: Paschal, Atlanta, .360; Burrus, Atlanta, .350; Yarran, Memphis, .349; D. Williams, Mobile, .346; R. Williams, Mobile, .346; Cuyon, Little Rock, .343; Stewart, Birmingham, .342; Farber, Memphis, .341; Taylor, Memphis, .338.

LIGHTER BALL WILL BE IN PLAY IN 1925

Experts Wonder How Players Would Have Fared With It in Winds During Detroit Play

By Joe Williams

The bigger and better golf ball will cease to be a conversational subject after the current season. By spring it will be a reality, and in the major tournaments next year it will be compulsory. This much was admitted by an official of the U. S. G. A. in the writer's presence at Detroit three weeks ago.

Among the great army of duffers there is no plaintive plea for a change. The habitually high scorers rather like the smaller, far-flying sphere which yields them amazing yardage when a good hit is registered. Even the promise that the new ball will simplify the hit because it is bigger and therefore easier to "get up" leaves them cold and singularly unmoved. At best the duffer doesn't get a very long hit off the tee, or with his in-between shots, and any change in balls designed to curtail distance is not likely to win his whole and undivided approbation. Luckily the duffer may do as he pleases about the new ball. He isn't good enough to play in the major tournaments and the U. S. G. A. ex-spects time. It may be the last time she will play in the event. She so completely dominates the field that her entry robs the tournament of interest.

Just what connection a cheer leader has with reduced taxes, $1.50 wheat, an enlarged aerial fleet and a return to the hit-and-run style of baseball isn't so clear to a guy who is down to his last two eyes.

In sports world the boys take their demonstrations in lighter vein. Ruth comes to bat. Wolves in the bleachers launch a demonstration. "Strike out the big ball!" they demand. Ruth swats apiece out of yard. Wolves launch another demonstration. "Attaboy Babe!" they shout. No matter what happens the baseball demonstration always ends satisfactorily.

Nor has the elevation and refining influences of collegiate atmosphere had any noticeable effect on sportive demonstrations. "Hold 'em, Harvard," plead 90,000 well-curved throats in stadium. Yale immediate time.

to land the title. Failure to have done so would have resulted in a tie.

It is golfing history that Hagen does his best when trailing the field. Rival golfers fear Hagen at all times regardless of his score. They feel that he can do big things in a pinch, and are never content until he has finished and the figures have counted him out.

Hagen is a fighter, never knows when he's whipped. He keeps plugging away, doing his best even though it is a physical impossibility for him to win. He simply refuses to quit.

The player with the reputation for coming from behind is credited with great courage. He is deserving of it. The player who can only do his best when leading the field is usually regarded as lacking the old fight, courage. Is such a player being done an injustice?

Is it more difficult to come from behind than to hold an early advantage? Either way the mental and physical strain calls for the best in a man.

What do you think?

MINOT TEAM COMES HERE

Sunday Baseball Game Is Called at 3 o'clock

Fine Architecture in Picturesque Old City

On the bumpy, incredibly lovely line from Chartres to Rouen is the city of Dreux, by no means unknown to architects, and quite deserving of a visit from them. It is only for its old houses and its four notable "monuments historiques," says a writer in Scribner's magazine. Of these latter, the superb bestry of the old hotel de ville stands forth as one of the finest in France. From the east its well proportioned profile is in harmony with the simplicity of that facade, and from the west, towering up at the end of the Grand Rue, there is just that whimsical choice of the Gothic and the early Renaissance arts were mingling together. One of the towers is complete, very clear-cut and fine, while the other for some reason was stopped abruptly, and remains untouched and unadorned, presenting a strange outline of unfinished piers against the sky.

Of entirely different character is the Echo des Jeunes Filles, alias the Tribunal of Commerce, alias the Hotel de Dieu, a sixteenth century block of stone and brick, capped by a huge blue slate roof and sporting a curious iron-ribbed rose window. The simplicity of its mass is very splendid; but this seems insufficient to attract any "ohs" or "ahs" from passing tourists.

"Shirt of Nessus" Told in Old Fable

"The shirt of Nessus" is a phrase used to describe the tortures of remorse. According to one version of an ancient legend it was a gorgeous, gold-bedecked garment given to the wife of Hercules by a centaur who hated him. With it he gave the advice that if ever she found her husband's affection waning she should persuade him to don the shirt, when his love for her would return.

Years passed, and Hercules, after the fickle fashion of mythical heroes, grew tired of his wife. She thereupon brought herself of the centaur's gift, which she begged her husband to wear, says London Tit-Bits. He put it on, only to find that it burned and tortured him, and finally caused his death. For he built a great funeral pyre, laid himself upon it and bribed a friend to fire it rather than endure the tortures of the shirt, which clung to his body and could not be removed.

A centaur was a legendary creature with the body of a horse and the arms and head of a man. Therefore if we say of a horseman that he sits his horse like a centaur we mean that he rides so perfectly that he and the animal seem to be one.

Indians' Steam Bath

The sweat bath has been used by the Sioux and other Indians of the Northwest for generations. The framework of the bath closet is made of lumber willow sticks, over which are thrown blankets and skins anchored with heavy stones. In a hole in the center of the bath are white-hot stones, on which the bather splashes cold water to make steam. Periodically he draws cold water to induce perspiration. In the meantime the bather lashes his body with a bundle of tightly-bound straw.

After 30 minutes of this he runs to a stream and plunges into the cold water. For soap the Indian uses fine mud at the bottom of the stream. A 20-minute sunning completes the semi-weekly bath, says Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance in the Mentor magazine.

Earth's Central Core

Studies of varying velocity of earthquake tremors passing through the interior of the globe led Professor Wiechert of Holland to conclude that the earth consists of a central core of iron or steel, about 5,500 miles in diameter, surrounded by a stony shell nearly 1,000 miles in thickness. Between the outer solid rind and the inner layer of rock covering the metallic core, he thinks there is a layer of liquid or plastic material a little less than 20 miles below the earth's surface.

It hitched on to many of the hundred thousand plies, the 691 board feet of lumber the 20,560 cubic yards of stone rip rap, and the steel trusses 125 feet long. These sound like titanic dimensions for a little old "El" engine. But Harry Pinney still at the throttle, smiles with his keen grey eyes and speaks lovingly of "Number Four." Henry Steers, Inc., the contractors have employed Mr. Pinney and the old "El" engine on such jobs as Port Newark, the Westchester and Rector Railway, and Manhattan Transfer. They almost went to Panama to help build the Canal, but another old "El" engine took that job.

If you happen to see, in times to come, a little old engine with a "Number Four" twisted slant-wise on its breast plate, working on some construction job, you will know that it is Harry Pinney and the one-time news editor of New York's Ninth Avenue Company on its sixty acre tract, "El."

OLD "EL" ENGINE STILL TOILS

Here is an engine whose job is making history. Harry Pinney used "El" drive it on the old Ninth Avenue. "El" in New York when the elevated was the aristocrat of traffic.

Many a Wall Street broker and South Street sailorman rode toward the Battery behind Number Four when the engine was new and respected. Then came the third rail and nobody cared what became of Mr. Pinney and his engine.

CROWD DODGES BAD TORNADO

Flee From Town as Funnel-Shaped Cloud Approaches

Pipestone, Minn., July 12.—Between 45 and 50 persons—virtually the entire population of the town of Airlee, six miles west of Pipestone, escaped serious injury, or possible death, when they packed into three automobiles and "eluded" a small tornado which passed through that little town at 6 p. m. yesterday. Two residences, a warehouse and a garage building were wrecked by the twister, which also cut its way through a cornfield near Airlee. No one was injured.

No being the funnel shaped cloud heading toward the town, the residents sent out hurried warnings of the impending danger. The town's automobiles—three of them—were brought into action and men, women and children crowded into the machines, which were started north. Driving one mile in that direction, the drivers turned one mile west, managing to keep behind the twister; thence, continued one mile south and drove one mile east, and back into the town. By that time the cloud had "visited" Airlee, wrecked the four structures and continued on its way, cutting into the cornfield of John Ruebner, living near the town. After annihilating the field, the twister "broke" after a journey estimated by some at between 4 and 5 miles.

CO. BUDGET IS LOWERED

Is Cut by the Commissioners Under Tentative Plan

The board of county commissioners, after a session during which the county budget and equalization of values for taxation was considered, announced that the county's tentative budget for next year is $218,000, or about $50,000 less than last year. However, changes may be made before the budget is put in final form, probably next week.

The commissioners decided on a general land value for taxation purposes of about $12 an acre, which is lower than last year's $15 an acre. Last year by about $3 an acre. Until the percentages on the various items are extended, probably early next week, the exact value per township are not available.

Dodge Brothers Shows Big Gain, Says M. B. Gilman

In Detroit, Michigan and immediate vicinity there are more automobiles per cent of all the automobiles manufactured in this country, says M. B. Gilman, Dodge Brothers dealer. This gives the automobile buyer in Detroit an unusual opportunity to be intimately familiar, and have first-hand information of the manufacturing methods used by the leading factories. When such a great number of people can get such reliable information right at home, it is interesting to everyone to note the trend of their buying, and is about as dependable a guide as can be had.

This makes the figures and comparisons of Detroit motor car purchases a matter of important consideration for all buyers no matter where they may be located. During the first five months of this year, 9,931 more cars were bought in Detroit, than in the same period last year, of the cars built by 16 of the leading manufacturers. However this increase of some 10,000 cars was confined to the product of only 6 factories, and one of these increased only 1/2 of 1 percent, and another only some 14 per cent. Buying of cars made by 11 other factories decreased all the way from 6 to 80 per cent.

The true significance of buying in Detroit is found in that Dodge Brothers registrations increased 76 percent over 1923, and Ford 78 per cent. Dodge Brothers dealer delivered almost twice as many cars to Detroit buyers this year as last. If anyone is interested in the exact figures, M. B. Gilman Co., will gladly supply the information upon request.

Students Tell Of 'Ideal Type' For Matrimony

Milwaukee, Wis., July 12.—A moderately good-looking girl, cultured, but tolerant, and patient but not meek, is considered the ideal type to marry by 436 men students graduated from Marquette university.

In a "crazy-quilt" questionnaire, distributed during commencement, the graduates recorded their preferences in everything from wives to professions. But opinions as to essential qualities of a proper mate were practically the same. One man specified his wife must be redheaded, while two others were partial to blondes. The rest, however, avoided specifications as to the lady's appearance.

With two exceptions, the graduates regard war as a "necessary evil," but frown on pacifism as "impossible" nationally. The two who declared themselves conscientious objectors referred to war as "barbarous, inhuman, blind and unwarranted in all cases."

The sport page and front page headlines shared honors as the first consideration in reading a newspaper. Cartoons were popular, the questionnaire showed, and editorials are read by a few students, it was revealed.

Tennis and golf were favorite "hobbies" of the students and several mentioned books as hobbies. "Wise guys" led the list of pet pees submitted in the questionnaire.

There was a time when Charles G. Dawes, Republican vice presidential nominee, wore a mustache—in fact, quite a long time. Picture No. 4 shows him with it on back in 1887, when he hung out his law shingle in Lincoln, Neb. And in Picture No. 5, taken in 1901, it is noted Dawes, who meanwhile had turned from law to finance hadn't as yet shaved it off. Just when he did even his intimate friends can't remember.

Most of the students questioned said either all or a part of their way through school. Almost half of the expenses of attending Marquette is contributed by students working part time, it was indicated. Vocations of students while attending were varied as there are jobs in Milwaukee.

SEES BOOST IN SALES OF MOTOR CAR SALES HERE

L. De Liguori, sales supervisor for the Maxwell and Chrysler automobile companies, is here closing negotiations with the Corwin Motor Company, to handle the Chrysler six in Bismarck and tributary territory.

"The outlook for a good fall business in all lines of merchandise is great," Mr. De Liguori said. "Crop conditions all over the Northwest are in elegant shape. Maxwell and Chrysler sales will be bigger than ever."

For the first five months of this year Maxwell sales in Detroit, Michigan, the center of the automobile industry, were 36 per cent higher than last year, he said. In that city the Maxwell ranked fourth in point of increase, he said. That standing, he declared, is reflected in North Dakota where Maxwell shows a healthy increase.

"Our Chrysler six is the talk of the land," said Mr. De Liguori. "Demand for Chrysler is constantly increasing. Production is now around 175 cars per day and far from taking care of the tremendous demand that is upon us."

BANK OF N. D. CUTS INTEREST RATES IT PAYS

The Bank of North Dakota, by action of the Industrial Commission, has reduced the rates of interest on deposits, in line with the reductions made by the Federal Reserve Bank and other banks. Because of the lack of means for employment of money, many large banks in the east have materially reduced rates. Since the correspondent banks of the Bank of North Dakota have cut interest rates, it is necessary for the Bank of North Dakota to cut rates to its depositors, in order to avoid loss of money, according to C. R. Green, manager.

Effective August 1, interest on certificates of deposit running for

Hupmobile

Crankshaft: Drop forged steel, double heat treated. Unusually heavy construction, carefully counterbalanced. Rods for pressure lubrication. Three large bronze backed, babbitt lined bearings, all bored at one time to insure perfect alignment, and hand fitted. A lighter crankshaft, not counterbalanced or bored, and plain die-cast babbitt bearings would be much less expensive.

RAY CRAIG HELD GUILTY

Forgery was Charged Against
Lisbon Banker

LaMoure, July 12.—Ray Craig, former president of the closed Ransom County Farmers Bank of Lisbon, who was found guilty of forgery in district court yesterday, today was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary. Bail was set at $5,000.

LaMoure, N. D., July 12.—Ray Craig, former president of the closed Ransom County Farmers bank at Lisbon, was found guilty of forgery in the fourth degree by a jury in the local district court last evening. The case was given to the jury shortly after 4 p. m. and the verdict returned shortly before 11. The trial started Wednesday, the jury being completed Thursday morning. Craig was arrested last April charged with forgery in the fourth degree for alleged falsification of bank records and also on one charge of embezzlement. He will be tried on the embezzlement charge at the next term of court, it was stated last night by Attorney Charles E. Bangert of Enderlin, special prosecutor.

Evidence presented by the prosecution in the forgery case showed that Craig, as president of the bank, had purchased paper from a Minneapolis bank, the face value of which was about $48,000, for about $15,000. This paper had been credited as assets of Craig's bank at face value and the records made to show that the transaction had been approved by the board of directors. Sentence will probably be passed by Judge M. J. Engert some time today. Scott Cameron of the attorney general's office assisted Mr. Bangert in the prosecution and Mr. Craig was represented by Francis Murphy of Minot and Judge W. H. Barnett of Fargo. Plans for an appeal to the supreme court are being made.

Craig was formerly state manager of the Nonpartisan League for North Dakota.

No car like it!

42 horsepower! 50 miles and more an hour—hour after hour—without overheating—without loss of power—without engine repair—without carbon cleaning!

Many authorities believe this to be the outstanding motor car today.

Judge for yourself whether you want these unusual merits, not possessed by any poppet-valve car.

It is the most powerful car ever built of equal motor displacement and car weight.

It has a longer engine life—with greater power and greater economy than poppet-valve engines can have.

It is geared—not to a spurt speed of 70 miles an hour—but to average 50 miles and more per hour, hour after hour, for as long as you want to ride that way.

And at the end of a long sustained high speed, your motor will be cooler, will need less water than any similar sized poppet-valve engine;—will need no repair, no tinkering with weakened springs and unseated valves.

In fact its power curve will still be climbing up while the power of a poppet-valve car is dropping off.

And that is at the beginning. At 15,000 miles, this car will be more powerful, smoother, more even, if that is possible, than when new. No poppet-valve car at any price can offer this tremendous advantage.

Furthermore, while its power is increasing, its operating cost is cut in two, for this car is entirely free from those engine repairs which make up 50% of the upkeep cost of practically all poppet-valve cars. It has no cams—no springs—to get out of order.

This lack of motor depreciation partly explains the unusually high resale value of the Willys-Knight. Owners often ask to have their old motors retained in new cars. And 50,000 miles without a cent's worth of engine repairs is an ordinary experience among Willys-Knight owners.

You steer it without conscious effort. Women frequently tell us it is the easiest car they ever steered. No car is more lavishly equipped with Timken steering bearings.

Its getaway is quick and sure. You are never embarrassed in traffic.

You can never appreciate the great superiority of the Willys-Knight until you yourself drive it.

And you can never know the full meaning of motor car economy until you have owned a Willys-Knight for a few years.

Sales increased 238% last year.
